ALLIES DEMAND UNCONDITIONAL JAP SURRENDER IN HISTORIC ULTIMATUM

Attlee's Laborites Overwhelm Churchill's Regime

Election Winner Is Commissioned By King To Form New Government

Churchill Resigns; Labor Party and Allies Win 417 Seats against 210 for Conservatives

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON, July 26. (AP)—Britain's Labor party, advocating a socialist program for national reconstruction, stunningly defeated Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative regime today, and King George VI tonight commissioned Labor Leader Clement R. Attlee to form a new government.

Churchill, doughty war leader from Britain's darkest hour to final victory, had presented his resignation to the king at Buckingham palace just a few minutes earlier.

With votes in 627 of Britain's 640 constituencies counted, the Laborites and allied parties had captured 417 seats, against 210 for the Conservatives and their allies. Labor candidates had won 390 contests, Conservatives only 195. Results of the remaining thirteen contests will not be made known until early in August.

Churchill, his face grave, drove to Buckingham palace tonight and presented his resignation to King George VI, who immediately accepted it. He summoned a brief smile for the crowd which greeted him outside the palace gates, and gave to them his last V-sign as their premier.

War Wasn't an Issue

To the world at large, this election meant no change in Britain's policies for carrying through the war against Japan and building the peace of Europe. These were not at issue.

But it did swing Britain definitely left domestically, and it swept from the world stage and from the councils of the Big Three the ebullient Churchill—Britain's great leader during the European war.

Into his place stepped small, bald, soft-spoken Attlee, leader of the Labor party and the apparent premier-designate.

Churchill escaped personal defeat, being returned from his constituency of Woodford to a Commons seat from which he will lead the opposition when the new parliament convenes Aug. 8. His foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, No. 2 man in the Conservative party, also survived, winning in Warwick and Leamington.

But there were numerous casualties among Churchill's interim "caretaker" government as Labor's landslide rolled in from ballots cast July 5 in Britain's first general election since 1935. Down to defeat went Cabinet Ministers Brendan Bracken, L. S. Amery, Sir James Grigg, Duncan Sandys, Sir Donald Somervell, Leslie Hore-Belisha and Richard Law.

No Sign of Liberal Revival

Back into their seats—and likely into the new cabinet—swept the parade of Labor's top men headed by Attlee, Ernest Bevin, Herbert Morrison, Hugh Dalton, Sir Stafford Cripps and A. V. Alexander. They were trailed by a host of lesser lights and newcomers.

It was nearly all Labor this amazing day, with the expected show of strength in the industrial areas plus deep inroads in the traditionally Conservative country districts.

BRITISH LEADERSHIP CHANGES HANDS

CLEMENT ATTLEE, right, Labor party standard bearer, has been commissioned to form a new government in Great Britain following the stunning defeat of Winston Churchill, left, in the recent general election.

Capper Asserts Charter Should Be Successful

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Eighty-year-old Arthur Capper, who voted against the league of Nations in 1919, reversed his position today and told the Senate the United Nations organization to keep the peace "will work."

The Kansas Republican, who rarely makes a speech any more, told his colleagues on the fourth day of debate on the United Nations Charter that it has a greater chance of success than the old league ever had.

This, he said, is because of the realization that, unless the Big Five powers—particularly the Big Three—work together in the postwar world, "the prospects of avoiding a World War III are slender indeed."

1919 Vote Is Explained

Capper explained his vote of 1919 by saying the Versailles peace treaty and the league held no guarantee of American sovereignty. The new charter does possess such a guarantee, he declared.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) declared the charter is a "powerful weapon to preserve the peace," especially when viewed in conjunction with econmic world collaboration.

He went on to say he believed in "reasonable co-operation" with Russia but declared "America's resources must not be spent to promote communism in Europe."

Saying American newspaper reporters and American officials are barred from Communist-dominated areas, Eastland added that he hoped the Potsdam conference would result in opening the way for American reporters to go into any country.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said he agreed that it "is too bad for the cause of peace" that American newsmen have not been allowed access to Eastern Europe.

"Peace Won," Pepper Says

The Senate's evident intent to ratify the United Nations Charter means that "we have won the peace," Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) declared today.

Pepper told his colleagues on the fourth day of debate on the charter that Woodrow Wilson, father of the old League of Nations, and Franklin D. Roosevelt "are watching from behind the veil of immortality."

Pepper and Sen. Austin (R-Vt), vehement supporter of the treaty for international co-operation to prevent war, took up much of the day. Austin, outlining the machinery of the new league, forecast its Security council would have such great armed force that no nation could hope to stand up against it.

U. S. Army Plans Single Knockout Punch at Japan

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP)—The United States Army revealed plans today to deploy 7,000,000 soldiers for one gigantic knockout punch unless Japan heeds the Potsdam ultimatum to surrender or be destroyed.

Gen. Jacob L. Devers, new chief of army ground forces, told a news conference that he hoped to get 7,000,000 men "redeployed against the Japanese in a single blow."

"There's no use doing it piecemeal," he said.

The 7,000,000 total will be the approximate size of the army after partial demobilization. Devers explained that he did not mean the whole 7,000,000 will actually be on the firing line. Millions will be in the service of supply and other branches in the United States and elsewhere, but all will be part of a single team with a single objective.

Joseph C. Grew, acting secretary of state, declined even to dignify the enemys' newest peace feeler with a formal statement.

Asked for comment on last night's broadcast which in effect pleaded for modification of Allied demands, Grew sent out word through the department's press section that there would be no direct reply from this government.

Petain Planned To Get in Power, Witness Declares

By RELMAN MORIN

PARIS, July 26. (AP)—A surprise witness at the treason trial of Marshal Petain testified today that the old soldier was formulating plans as early as 1939 to become head of the French government.

The witness, Armand Gazel, had been counsellor of the French embassy in Spain while Petain was there as ambassador.

He appeared briefly at the end of the fourth day of the marshal's trial in which two parliamentary leaders, Jules Jeanneny and Louis Marin, explained how Petain gained dictatorial power. They charged Petain and all those who demanded an armistice with moral guilt.

Jeanneny said that Petain and Pierre Laval, now in Spanish detention, "made common cause" and that it was the plotting of the white-tied Laval which actually brought Petain to power. This was done by abolishing the two houses of the National Assembly by decree and reassembling them in extraordinary session, after Laval had mustered sufficient voting strength to make a dictator of the marshal.

Marin, shouting much of his testimony, said that Petain's refusal to leave France made the Armistice possible. He cited a law of 1893 fixing the death penalty for anyone dealing with an enemy occupying a part of France, as the Germans did when the armistice was sought and signed. Petain, he said, obstinately refused to leave France for either England or Africa and influenced others to remain.

When the trial opened, one of the 89-year-old soldier's lawyers read a statement in which Petain denied sending telegrams to Hitler congratulating him on repelling the Canadians at Dieppe and asking permission for Vichy troops to help the Germans defend France. Judge Paul Mongibeaux had read one such telegram yesterday.

Before October, 1939, Gazel testified, Petain already had drawn up lists of men he was considering as ministers in his prospective government.

B-29s Rain Fire Bombs on Three Japanese Cities

Doolittle Says Nippon Will Become Nation of Cityless Nomads

By AL DOPKING

GUAM, Friday, July 27 (AP)—More than 350 American B-29s firebombed three Japanese cities today in the third raid in four days of a blazing campaign which Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle declared would turn Nippon into a nation of cityless nomads.

The medium-sized force of Superforts struck before dawn, raining more than 2,200 tons of incendiaries on the industrial centers of Omuta, Matsuyama and Tokuyama, all in Southwestern Japan.

It was the second fire raid on Omuta, important chemical center and coal port of 177,000 population on Kyushu island. The city previously was hit June 18.

Matsuyama and Tokuyama got their first baptism of American fire. They were hit previously with demolition bombs. The former city of 122,000 people, on the western coast of Shikoku island, is a factory community which produced cotton fabrics before the war. Tokuyama, at the southwestern end of Honshu island, has large chemical plants and an oil refinery and fuel tank farms. Its population is 40,000.

The before-dawn attack by the Marianas-based Superforts of the Twentieth air force followed a raid by 100 of the big bombers Wednesday midnight on oil plants near Tokyo and the record 625-plane mission Tuesday against the Osaka-Nagoya area.

Doolittle made his prediction on Okinawa, where he personally raised the flag over his newly-established Eighth air force headquarters and announced B-29s of his command would soon be joining in the blows against the Japanese homeland.

Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay disclosed here that the Twentieth air force has now reached full operational strength, with five B-29 wings based on Guam, Tinian and Saipan.

He also reported, prior to today's raid, that reconnaissance had disclosed that devastation in Japan's urban industrial areas had reached 143 square miles in thirty-nine cities.

Added to the "hard hit" cities listed in the growing destruction roll were the ports of Sendai, 27.8 per cent levelled, and Chosi, 36.4 per cent burned and blasted out.

Doolittle said in an interview with Associated Press Correspondent Richard Cushing on Okinawa that the B-29s of his Eighth air force, redeployed from Europe, would be striking Japan in force by the end of next month.

Churchill Declines To Return to Potsdam

LONDON, July 26 (AP) — The London News Chronicle said tonight that Clement R. Attlee's first act after assuming office as prime minister was to ask Winston Churchill to return with him to Potsdam Friday to help continue the Big Three conferences, but that "the defeated prime minister did not feel in a position to accept Mr. Attlee's offer."

Tokyo Is Becoming Agricultural Center

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26 (AP)—The Japanese say 15,000 acres of Tokyo have been devastated by bombing and so they are going to plant vegetable gardens on the ruins.

Furthermore, the Japanese apparently figure that Tokyo has been so well burned out by Superforts that they won't need water reservoirs originally built for fire protection and so they are going to raise "hogs and ducks and carp" in them.

A Domei agency broadcast heard by the Federal Communication today told of the conversion of once-industrial Tokyo into a burgeoning agricultural center.

Chinese Capture Seventh Former Yankee Air Base

Namyung, in Wolfram Mining District, Is Cleared of Japs

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, July 26 (AP)—Chinese troops have seized a seventh former American air base with capture of Namyung in the important wolfram mining district 150 miles northeast of Canton, the Chinese high command announced today.

Due west, other Chinese units punched to new points within six and eight miles of the triple airfield city of Kweilin, and fought in the streets of a Ninth air base city, Yangso, forty-five miles to the south, a communique declared.

Namyung, abandoned last Jan. 2 by the United States Fourteenth Air Force, was the aerial starting point of shipments to the United States of wolfram, a mineral vital in the production of war munitions. Nearby Tayu, in the heart of the mining area, already has been recaptured, and wolfram shipments possibly can be resumed soon.

The Chinese won Namyung, sixty-five miles southwest of Kanhsien, on Monday, and the enemy retreated westward toward Kukong, on the Canton-Hankow railroad 125 miles north of Canton, the high command said.

Two hundred and fifty miles westward, Chinese troops struck yesterday to a point only six miles west of Kweilin, now apparently manned only by Japanese rearguards. On Tuesday, another Chinese column had won a position on the railroad only eight miles southwest of the city, and was reported stabbing on toward Kweilin. Liangkiangyi, twelve and one-half miles west of the city, was taken Tuesday, the Chinese said.

The high command declared its forces on Wednesday also captured the railroad town of Yungfu, thirty-two miles southwest of Kweilin, which had been a main stumbling block to the advance of the principal Chinese units on Kweilin.

Street fighting was reported continuing in the walled city of Yangso, forty-five miles south of Kweilin, which the Americans abandoned last year. Yangso seemed likely to become the eighth lost air base to revert to Allied control.

A Japanese counterattack recaptured the highway center of Ining, eleven miles northwest of Kweilin, the Chinese command said.

Enemy Fleet Is Left Powerless To Meet Invasion

Radio Silence Cloaks Activities of Adm. Halsey's Armada

By MURLIN SPENCER

GUAM, Friday, July 27 (AP) — Radio silence cloaked the activities and whereabouts of Adm. Halsey's Third fleet today as Allied strikes against the Japanese empire were confined to land-based aerial actions.

The last report on the great American and British force which smashed at the Japanese fleet remnants Tuesday and against bases on the inland sea Wednesday was contained in yesterday's communique, which said Wednesday's action was limited to hitting small vessels and damaging ground installations because of extremely bad weather.

Adm. Nimitz's communique today made no mention of Halsey's fleet.

Twenty-four of Japan's warships, including fourteen carriers, battleships and cruisers, were damaged within a week — twenty of them Tuesday.

Fog Prevents Later Blows

Only the fog that rolled in Wednesday saved the Japanese from another crushing blow by the more than 1,250 United States and British carrier planes which wrought Tuesday's devastation.

While there was no new word from Halsey, Japanese broadcasts said they expected a return of the fleet and cautioned the empire to be vigilant.

The Japanese, also invasion jittery, began broadcasting advice to their citizens on the weapons the Allies were expected to use. They predicted flame-throwing tanks would lead the invasion forces on the beaches, but said there was no need to fear these monsters too much.

They also said Japan was turning to construction of wooden planes and expected transfer of one-third of the homeland's shipyard employes to manufacturing wooden aircraft.

20 Warships Hit Tuesday

In fifteen days of relentless slugging, Admiral Nimitz's naval forces through Tuesday had sunk or damaged 620 Japanese ships — warships and merchant vessels — and destroyed or damaged 778 planes. Results of Wednesday's interrupted raids have yet to be assessed except for a preliminary report that thirty-nine enemy aircraft were knocked out.

Altogether, American and British planes sank or damaged twenty warships crowded in the waters of Japan's inland sea Tuesday, which, coupled with the July 18 raid on Yokosuka naval base in Tokyo bay, made a total of twenty-four warships put out of action within a week.

Questionnaires Mailed by State Republican Group

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) — The Maryland Federation of Republicans reported today it had mailed 2,500 questionnaires covering the question of party leadership in Maryland and asking specifically if State Chairman Galen L. Tait "is capable of getting all factions together?"

John H. McFaul, Jr., federation president, announced the survey of opinion on party policy among Republican legislators and other office holders, members of state central committees and county and city leaders of the G. O. P.

The questionnaires asked specifically if the persons addressed were "satisfied with present state leadership?" and "has the present state leadership eliminated factionalism or has it helped to promote it?"

Also questioned were:

Whether the present system, by which the state central committee meets as a whole every four years, is satisfactory; whether a party candidate, after election, should consult with leaders of his party on policy and appointments; whether, assuming equal competency, Republican-elected officials should make appointments from their own party; and whether a state chairman can "discharge his obligation to his party with fairness towards all candidates when he holds a job under a prospective candidate?"

Finally, the questionnaire asked "by way of constructive criticism, what is wrong with the Republican party which is bringing about a falling off in registration, and what might be done to improve conditions?"

Nippon Is Told To Accept Terms or Face "Prompt And Utter Destruction"

Japanese Sovereignty Would Be Limited to Four Major Islands as Provided in Cairo Declaration with "Points" in Nip Territory To Be Occupied; War Criminals Would Face Trial

By EDWARD D. BALL

POTSDAM, July 26 (AP) —The United States, Britain and China tonight demanded in an ultimatum stating "our terms" that Japan immediately surrender unconditionally or undergo "prompt and utter destruction."

Asked if Premier Stalin were aware of the ultimatum, Presidential Press Secretary Charles Ross said "Mr. Stalin's government is not at war with Japan."

President Truman, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and retiring Prime Minister Churchill asserted they "have conferred and agreed that Japan shall be given the opportunity to end this war."

Truman and Churchill drew up the doctument, and Chiang quickly concurred when it was submitted to him.

Allies "Poised To Strike"

Their historic proclamation offered the Japanese people the hope of peaceful, productive lives if they submit now. It declared "points in Japanese territory" would be occupied.

Clearly stipulating "our terms" under such surrender, the ultimatum declared "we shall not diviate from them: There are no alternatives: We shall brook no delay."

"We call upon the government of Japan to proclaim now the unconditional surrender of all Japanese armed forces, and to provide proper and adequate assurances of their good faith in such action. The alternative for Japan is prompt and utter destruction," the ultimatum asserted.

Greater and more terrible Allied armed might than conquered Germany now is "poised to strike the final blows at Japan," it asserted.

"The full application of our military power will mean the inevitable and complete destruction of the Japanese homeland."

The terms demanded:

Limiting Japanese sovereignty to the four major Japanese home island "and such minor islands as we determine"—carrying out the Cairo declaration.

Elimination of Japanese leaders who embarked on world conquest, and destruction of Japanese warmaking power.

"Points in Japanese territory to be designated by the Allies shall be occupied" until a new order of "peace, security and justice" shall be established.

"We do not intend that the Japanese shall be enslaved as a race or destroyed as a nation," the proclamation asserted, "but stern justice shall be meted out to all war criminals, including those who have visited cruelties upon our prisoners."

Japanese military forces, after being disarmed "shall be permitted to return to their homes with the opportunity to lead peaceful and productive lives," the document promises.

Proclamation Is Issued

The joint proclamation, made public in Potsdam, Washington and London said:

"1. We, the president of the United States, the president of the National Government of the Republic of China and the Prime Minister of Great Britain, representing the hundreds of millions of our countrymen, have conferred and agreed that Japan shall be given the opportunity to end this war.

"2. The prodigious land, sea and air forces of the United States, the Britain Empire and China, many times reinforced by their armies and air fleets from the west, are poised to strike the final blow at Japan. This military power is sustained and inspired by the determination of all Allied nations to prosecute the war against Japan until she ceases to resist.

Nazis' Fate Is Recalled

"3. The result of futile and senseless German resistance to the might of aroused free people of the world is known.

"The might that now is converted on Japan is immeasurably greater than that which, when applied to the resisting Nazis, necessarily laid waste to its men, its industry and the method of life of the whole German people.

"The full application of our military power will mean the inevitable and complete destruction of the Japanese armed forces and the utter destruction of the Japanese homeland.

"4. The time has come that Japan must decide whether she will continue to be controlled by those self-willed military clique of traitors, whose unintelligent calculations have brought the Empire of Japan to the threshold of annihilation, or whether she will follow the path of reason.

"5. The following are our terms: We will not deviate from them: There are no alternatives: We shall not accept delay.

"6. There must be eliminated for all times the authority and influence of those who have deceived and misled the people of Japan into embanking on world conquest, for we insist that a new order of peace, security and justice will be impossible until irresponsible militarism is driven from the world.

Occupation Is Planned

"7. Until such a new order is established and until there is convincing proof that Japan's warmaking power is destroyed, Japanese territory to be designated by the Allies shall be occupied to secure the achievement of the basic objective we are here setting forth.

"8. The terms of the Cairo declaration shall be carried out and Japanese sovereignty shall be limited to the islands of Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu, Shihoku and such minor islands as we determine.

"9. Japanese military forces after being completely disarmed shall be permitted to return to their homes with the opportunity to lead peaceful and productive lives.

"10. We do not intend that the Japanese shall be enslaved as a race or destroyed as a nation, but stern justice shall be meted out to all war criminals including those who have visited cruelties upon our prisoners.

"The Japanese government shall remove all obstacles to the revival of democratic tendencies among the Japanese people. Freedom of speech and religion and of thought, as well as respect for fundamental human life shall be established.

War Industries Outlawed

11. Japan shall be permitted to maintain such industries as will

Six Kinds of Canned and Bottled Foods To Cost More Ration Points

WASHINGTON, July 26. (AP)—Six kinds of canned and bottled foods will cost more ration points beginning Sunday but citrus juice and catsup will have lower point value.

The OPA announced this tonight after ordering reductions in values in nearly all cuts of beef, veal and lamb for the period from Sunday through September 1.

Ten or twenty-point increases, depending on container size, were assigned for canned spinach, asparagus, apple sauce, apples, apricots and grape juice.

Grapefruit juice and blended orange and grapefruit juice in forty-six ounce cans will require ten points instead of twenty, while ten points will buy two number two cans of such juice. The value previously was ten points for each number two can.

Tomato catsup and chili sauce in fourteen ounce containers get a new value of ten points, down ten from the current rating.

The cuts in meat point values were made possible, OPA said, by a boost of nearly ten per cent in the August supply over current levels.

All but one of many reductions, effective from next Sunday through September 1 are one or two points a pound. The single exception is boneless rump of beef, which is down three points.

Most steaks are down two points, with one or two point cuts for roast, chops, and other cuts.

Cut point values on all pork cuts and other red point foods are being maintained.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles said the lower point values for most meat together with the eight-point cut in the butter value which became effective July 15 would "ease the strain on red-point budgets." He attributed the meat point reductions and the supply improvements to three developments:

1—A slash in the amount of meat required by the armed forces.

2—The slaughter control program put into effect May 1 to increase shipment of meat across state lines to shortage areas.

3—A "fair distribution" which became effective in June. This requires slaughterers to ship into the same geographical areas they served early in 1944.

OPA estimated that meat supplies in August will be up about 9.5 per cent from this month. There will be more beef, veal, lamb and mutton, but less pork.

Political Crash in Britain Could Serve To Intensify War on Japan

BY KIRK L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

The political crash in Britain which ended Winston Churchill's regime as prime minister and elevated his one time deputy, Clement R. Attlee, to that post by an overwhelming Labor party victory, bids fair to intensify the assault on Japan if the change has any effect at all on the war in Asia.

It could serve to clinch Russia's attitude toward that conflict if that has not already been determined in the Big Three conference in Potsdam interrupted because of the political situation in Britain. There is much to indicate that may be the case, including the fact that Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten, commanding the Allied but primarily British Southeastern Asia war zone, conferred at Potsdam with Mr. Churchill, Generalissimo Stalin and President Truman as well as with the British-American combined chiefs of staff.

Only the Japanese war could have led to Mountbatten's visit to Potsdam. It followed his recent conference with Gen. MacArthur in the Philippines and recurrent reports that he is destined to take over the mopping-up campaign in the South Pacific as well as in Malaya, the Dutch Indies and Burma and Thailand, releasing the American ground commander for complete concentration on the "On to Tokyo" drive in the north.

The greatest significance in the official announcement from No. 10 Downing street of Mountbatten's presence in Potsdam was its inclusion of the statement that he had been in session not only with the Allied military high command but with the Big Three group itself. There is no record of any previous Russian official participation in strategic or tactical planning that could have to do with concerted action against Japan.

Attlee Says Winning War Is First Major Task Facing British People

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, July 26. (AP)—Clement Attlee, victorious leader of the Labor party, told a mass meeting tonight that "the first thing we have to do is to finish the war with Japan" and declared that "we must see that our fighting men get all the support that they need."

"We are embarked," he cried, "on a great adventure of democracy, freedom and social justice."

Addressing a cheering throng of followers, the successor of Winston Churchill said that he had been summoned to Buckingham palace to receive instructions to form a new government. A short time earlier Winston Churchill had tendered the resignation of his defeated "caretaker" administration.

Attlee spoke out for "co-operation with other nations, particularly our great allies, the United States of America and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics."

The British electorate, he declared, realized that the Labor party was the only party which could lead the British to peace abroad and social security at home.

"We never swerve from our contentions that we need a new world order to prevent war," he said, adding that the party's economic policy would endeavor to raise the standards of life everywhere.

Highly gratified with the results of the general election which gave the Laborites a smashing victory over the Conservatives, the 62-year-old, Oxford-educated Attlee said:

"I and my colleagues fully realize the magnitude of the task which faces us.

"This is the first time in the history of the country that labor has ever had a clear majority, and it will enable us to implement the policy laid down by the socialist party."

Acclaimed throughout the country as Britain's man of the hour, Attlee himself easily won reelection from his bomb-battered Limehouse district in London's east end, defeating Lt. Alfred Woodward, a Conservative, 8,396 to 1,618.

Pallbearers were Dice Stein, Charles Rose, William Strickler, Richard Scott, William Brown and Edward Twigg.

Ernie Costimore Will Face Charges Here

Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, reported yesterday that Ernie Costimore, about 21, who told a Mt. Savage woman he was a buddy of her son in the navy and then looted her home after being her guest for a week, has been captured in Morristown, N. J., and will be returned to this city for prosecution.

Costimore, accompanied by his brother and the brother's alleged wife, stopped at the home of Mrs. John Gracey, Calla Hill, Mt. Savage, on July 8 and said he had served with her son, Seaman Edward Gracey, at Norfolk. The group left July 10 with valuables from the Gracey home, authorities said.

The other two have not been found, Harris added.

Local Youth Will Take ASTRP Course

Edward D. Beall, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Beall, 608 Hill Top drive, will begin training in the army specialized training reserve program at Virginia Military institute, Lexington, Va., next Tuesday.

Beall, a grandson of the Rev. H. E. R. Reck, former pastor of Grace Methodist church, qualified for the ASTRP in an examination given April 12 at Fort Hill high school, several weeks before his graduation. He was sworn into the army reserves July 13 after taking a physical examination in Baltimore.

After coming to Cumberland from Hagerstown last year, Beall took an active part in school affairs during his senior year at Fort Hill. He was a member of the student council, secretary of social affairs and supervisor of monitors, president of the boys' glee club, orator of the graduating class, a member of the a cappella choir, and was third in a declamation contest last spring.

In addition, he played the second male lead in the school production "Arizona," served as treasurer of the "Rec" club, belonged to the boys' Hi-Y club, and was an active member of the cadet group of Western Maryland Squadron No. 331, Civil Air Patrol.

Ohio Couple Are Slightly Injured When Car Overturns

Emmanuel Tishner, 48, Warren, Ohio, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday at 3:30 p. m. for possible fractures of several ribs after, he told attaches, the car he was driving overturned on Route 40 near Lion spring yesterday afternoon.

His wife, Mrs. Frances Tishner, 46, was treated for slight abrasions in the crash. Trooper Harry Holsinger investigated.

Charles Elfritz, 10, Oldtown road, was treated in Allegany hospital last evening about 11 o'clock for slight abrasions suffered, he told attaches, when he fell out of a swing at a local playground.

Canning Should

Medium syrups—One and one-half cups sugar and one and one-half cups syrup or honey to one quart of juice for berries, sweet cherries, currants, figs, peaches, pears, apricots, grapes and sweet plums.

Heavy syrup—Two and one-half cups sugar and two and one-half cups syrup or honey to one quart juice, for sour cherries, sour plums, gooseberries and rhubarb.

Other Ways Suggested

Another way suggested to stretch sugar was: Syrups, molasses and honey, add water as well as sweetening and flavor, so reduce other liquids called for in a recipe one-fourth to one-half cup for each cup of syrup or molasses or honey used, depending upon the thickness of the syrup or honey.

However, Miss Bean warned that saccharine should not be used until an individual has consulted a doctor Saccharine is 300 to 500 times as sweet as sugar, but has no food value. A quarter grain of saccharine is equal to a teaspoonful of granulated sugar.

Cooking with saccharine brings out a bitter flavor so if added it should be added to foods just before serving them. It is best for beverages, especially cold drinks. It can be bought in powder or tablet form at drug stores.

But Miss Bean added, if "you feel you must use saccharine, it is wise to consult your doctor first."

Sgt. William Cross Receives Discharge

A Cumberland soldier who served nearly five years in the army, Tech. Sgt. William R. Cross, husband of Mrs. Thelma Cross, 111 North Paw Paw Way, was discharged at Fort George G. Meade, Tuesday under the point system.

Sgt. Cross served twenty-five months overseas and took part in the invasion of North Africa and the campaigns in Tunisia, Sicily, Normandy and Germany. He was with the Ninth Infantry division of the First army. He was wounded last July 20 while fighting in Normandy.

The Purple Heart was awarded to Sgt. Cross and he is also entitled to wear the Combat Infantryman's badge, the American Defense and ETO ribbon with five battle stars. A son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cross, he was employed in a coal mine before entering the army.

City and County Not Interested In Federal Loans

Frank C. Summers, Washington engineer, with the Postwar Planning Commission, played solitaire all day yesterday at the court house where he had advised the mayor and city council and the county commissioners he would be for a conference on federal loans to cities and counties at no interest rates set up in the George bill.

Summers said he had written to the mayor and city council and the commissioners to advise them that under the new setup in the Federal Works Agency, loans are now available for schools, water works, city halls, streets and other civic projects at no interest.

Summers said he wrote that he would be in Cumberland all day and that he would welcome a conference with any public officials interested. He left last night for Oakland.

Registered Nurses Are Needed for Polio Cases

A request to recruit all available registered nurses to go to Medical College, Richmond, Va., to assist in the care of polio cases was issued yesterday by Miss Doris Rhea, nursing director of the eastern area offices of the American Red Cross.

The request was addressed to Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of the Allegany Chapter of the American Red Cross who said nurses are needed now to prepare for additional polio cases which may occur in the eastern area. It was noted that many such cases occur during the summer months.

The nurses will receive $8 per day for eight hours work, with one day off a week with pay. Maintenance and transportation will be provided by the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Witherup requests that doctors who are not qualified for military service are also needed. Applicants should call 4181 or 1108-J for further details.

$1,000 Payment Is To Be Made On Indebtedness

Action Is Taken at Meeting of Westernport Town Council

BY GEORGE DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, July 26—A payment of $1,000 on the floating indebtedness of the town was ordered made by the council at a meeting of Mayor Milton McIntyre and commissioners. This is the first payment to be made since the city building was purchased about twenty years ago, town officials said.

Joseph L. Mansfield headed a delegation which appeared before the council to enter an objection to the proposed use of the old Western Maryland railway freight station as a feed store. The railway is building a combination freight and passenger station on Maryland avenue. The delegation pointed out that Church street is in a residential section and the feed store would detract from their properties.

William Williams, of the railway's engineering department appeared on behalf of the company concerning the elevation of its crossing at the lower end of Main street near the Piedmont - Westernport interstate bridge. He said he did not know whether the company had made any arrangements to rent the structure. On the elevation question, Williams was referred to the state roads commission and told that any arrangements made would be satisfactory to the town.

Chief of Police Burza Hanlin said that trucks parking on the corner of Main and Church streets are obstructing the view and that action is to be taken against these truckers. He also suggested that parking be allowed only on one side of Walnut street.

The Westernport Auxiliary Police have been assisting regular police Saturday nights without compensation and have requested the town to purchase them uniforms. The town agreed to buy three or four uniforms.

Patrick H. Fahey, city clerk, read a letter from Mayor Thomas S. Post, of Cumberland, in reply to an inquiry on the cost of Cumberland's incinerator and its maintenance. Mayor Post said that the incinerator cost $6,500 and cost of operation is $1,500 yearly exclusive of $150 for coal burned.

A request for a donation for relettering and improving the Honor Roll plaque containing the names of service men and women of the Westernport district was received from the Westernport Service Centhe. About $300 is needed for these improvements.

The meeting nights of the mayor and commissioners were changed to the first and third Monday nights beginning August 6.

Earl Hawk, who has been helping Chief Hanlin, was appointed an extra policeman.

Announcement was made that the water meter which had been purchased had been installed at Bloomington, in order to obtain an estimate of how much water is being consumed there.

Water Line Repaired

Francis D. Glass, water superintendent of the town of Westernport, reports that a mass of roots four feet long was found in the town's water line which about filled an eight inch line located about 1,000 feet below the Westernport dam. Before the object was removed there was only about three inches of water in the pipe.

Forty-eight feet of wooden pipe has been replaced the water superintendent states and the town at the present time has an ample supply of water in the reservoir to meet its demands.

State Crops Are Badly Damaged By Heavy Rains

Baltimore, July 26 (AP)—Maryland farmers suffered a million dollar crop loss through heavy recent rains, but loss of millions of tons of top soil through washouts may prove to be even more serious in the long run.

This opinion was expressed by Dr. T. B. Symons, director of the University of Maryland Extension Service, after the crop loss was reported by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Dr. Symons said that the soil carried off into streams was a loss that could be replaced only by many years of careful farming.

Most Seriously Hit

Most seriously hit, the bureau said, were southern Maryland and the Eastern Shore, while conditions continued good to excellent in Western Maryland.

Western Maryland experienced little operational delay from the rains, while all crops were benefitted.

Cutting wheat and harvesting early peas were reported in progress. Barley and oats yields were described as good.

Early tomatoes were ripening slowly and corn plants showed improvement in areas where fields were not washed too badly. Early varieties of apples, peaches and pears were ripening and being picked.

Tobacco Heavily Damaged

A $500,000 damage was caused in tobacco, one of the heaviest crop losses.

Heavily hit, also was Queen Anne's county wheat. Nearly half this crop was seriously damaged, and great potential injury was done to clover seed, tomatoes and late sugar corn.

Joseph Blandford, chairman of the State Agricultural Board, disclosed meantime that he had initiated efforts to secure increased support prices to Maryland tomato growers and in subsidies to processors to compensate them for losses sustained because of the heavy rains.

Tomato Crop Reduced

He said in a letter to the regional director of the Agriculture Adjustment Agency that the rains had "wrought havoc with the Maryland tomato crop." The size of the crop had been greatly reduced and the quality was "seriously impaired."

"In fairness to both growers and canners," he wrote, "and also in order to direct a sufficient quantity of tomatoes into canning and processing channels to meet military requirements, it is apparent that both the support price to contract growers and the subsidy on the finished product of the canners should be substantially increased."

The present support price is $30 per ton.

Barrage Balloons Now Available

Is there anybody in Cumberland who would like to buy a barrage balloon?

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation which works through the Chamber of Commerce office here, announced yesterday that 250 balloons which once floated over war plants and defense areas have been put on the block.

While the balloons may have little further use as such, the material of which they are constructed has been found suitable for a wide variety of purposes. Some of the many product uses for which the material has been found suitable include: raincoats, roofing for buses, roofing for traliers, tens, tarpaulins, sheeting for hospital and home use and aprons. Generally the material can be used wherever a light weight weatherproof covering is required.

The balloons are in two sizes, H. W. Smith, chamber secretary, said yesterday. The material in one consists of 781 square yards of material and the other consisting of 260 square yards. They are being sold at $1 per square yard. No odd lot sizes will be sold, the buyer taking the balloon in its entirety.

The fabric is a two-ply, lightweight material coated with neoprene, is waterproof and proof against a number of acids, and in addition, is heat and cold resistant.

The balloons are lacated at the Sharonville Army Engineer Depot, Sharonville, Ohio, and are packed in boxes. They will be shipped freight collect to purchasers upon payment by certified check. Inquiries should be directed to the Aircraft Division, Office of Surplus Property, RFC, 1625 K Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Hirohito Is the One Responsible

IN A LETTER to the "New York Herald Tribune," Homer H. Dubs, visiting professor of Chinese at Columbia university, gives cogent reasons why, as the "Cumberland News" has contended, Emperor Hirohito of Japan should not be spared when it comes to meeting out to the criminals of this war what they deserve.

In considering peace terms with Japan, Mr. Dubs says, there is one fact we cannot afford to overlook, namely, upon whom the Japanese place the responsibility for this war. "If we are to prevent future wars," he continues, "then we must punish adequately whomever the Japanese people consider ultimately responsible. It makes no difference whether we Americans think that person responsible or not, for the Japanese state is organized about a set of ideas fundamentally different from ours."

"Now it is a simple fact that, according to Japanese ideas, the present Japanese emperor is responsible for this war. The declarations of war were issued in his name. The Japanese army and navy were molibized in his name. The Japanese emperor legally is the government. Everything done legally by that government is theoretically the act of the Emperor, since the whole bureaucracy and people are merely his executive arm.

"No prime minister or government official has any authority to interfere with the acts of the Mikado. No matter what were his personal opinions about this war, the fact is that, whether by negligence or othewise, he has not interfered with government action. He is responsible for the war, since the government and people are acting to carry out his orders.

"If then we punish those Japanese leaders who have brought on this war and yet do not touch the emperor, in whose name, with whose tacit consent they have acted, we will have failed. Such an omission would be considered by the Japanese as a piece of Yankee ignorance that would cause them to believe they can continue to outsmart foreigners. To oriental thought, Hirohito is responsible. Then he is guilty of a vast crime in bringing war on us. He has caused us to expend countless wealth and to sacrifice thousands of our citizens in order to right the wrongs done by his government. Such a crime against us can be atoned only by his removal. This act is indispensable in bringing to the Japanese a realization of the enormity of waging war.

"But Hirorito's removal does not mean that Japan must become a democracy. For democracy is not only the highest form of government. It is also the most difficult one to run successfully. It would be better to have a successful imperial government in Japan than a tottering democracy.

"If the Japanese wish to continue under imperial rule, we should not stop them. But we must specify that Hirohito and his descendants be excluded from the throne. There are some dozen other princes who are eligible to continue the ancient Japanese line, and none of them is even a close relative of Hirohito. Among them it should be possible to find one who is willing to proclaim a new constitution that ends the evils inherent in this one, especially the control of the military over every possible cabjnet. Articles LIII and IX of the Imperial House law provide a way for removing Hirohito and changing the order of succession.

"In order to save their faces let the Japanese themselves make this change. Without it and without overthrowing the religious foundation of imperial domination in Shinto beliefs, even a conquest and occupation of Japan may be fruitless. For the essential thing is to make a change in Japanese thinking. What counts is not so much what we do, as what attitude we induce the Japanese to take toward their own actions."

These observations are quite to the point and further support the settled conviction expressed by this newspaper months ago when the bombing of the Japanese homeland got under way and special care was taken to see that Hirohito was not menaced by bombs, a policy that appeared later to have been modified.

Churchill Defeat Has Many Implications

IT is a thing of profound regret as well as of grave concern that Winston Churchill has been forced out of the premiership of Great Britain at this time when his courage, wisdom, foresight and forcefulness are needed to carry on the global war to a finish.

The British people evidently look on the war against Japan as an obligation out of their hands now that the Allies are completely masters of the European continent. That is unfortunate since British interests are greatly affected by the half of the war that remains.

The leftward turn of the government, however, does not come unexpectedly. Students of affairs have long noted a distinct trend to the left in Britain with particular emphasis upon further socialization. Churchill campaigned upon a "free enterprise" platform, and rejection of that carries serious connotations with respect not only to the political future of Britain but also of the whole European continent, perhaps of the world.

A change in government at this time will naturally dirupt many plans. It will have its most serious repercussions in the Allied conferences at which war strategy, political policy and postwar economic plans are being decided and are yet to be decided. It is a pity that the internal affairs of Britain could not have been held in abeyance until these over-all problems had been settled.

The most serious implications, however, are those which concern the trend of governmental philosophies. It is a paradox that in Britain radicalism should be rampant while here in America it has toned down under a patent turn to more conservative ideas and policies. Perhaps it will be necessary for further emphasis on that trend here as a means of serving as a check to any wild and revolutionary action abroad in the direction of collectivism.

Under the British system, the public services of Winston Churchill, one of the greatest premiers of Britain, perhaps the greatest national leader in all world history, will not be lost although he is ousted from the controls. He was returned to his seat in Parliament, where his voice will help to restrain the more militant radicals. If anybody can do that, Churchill can.

Morgenthau and The Budget Bureau

FIREWORKS set off by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., when he retired as secretary of the Treasury continue to pop in Washington.

Morgenthau has denied that President Truman had requested his resignation, but has admitted that his departure from the office was not of his own choosing. Newspaper reporters in New York had gained the impression from remarks made by him there that he had been forced out by the president.

These are but minor firecrackers, however. It matters little just how Morgenthau got out, but the significant fact remains that he announced his withdrawal immediately after a conference with the president at the White House.

The larger pyrotechnics have to do with Morgenthau's report to Congress recommending a "return" to the Treasury department of the responsibility of preparing and submitting the presidential budget.

Harold D. Smith, budget director, has expressed astonishment over that, declaring that the Treasury department never had that responsibility. He and other budget officials declared that the budget director has always been directly responsible to the president, although the Budget bureau in the Treasury department in a loose administrative sense.

The budget bureau, which is considered a part of the president's staff, is reported as strongly opposed to any attempt to subordinate the bureau or its functions to any executive department. Considering the purpose of the bureau, its personnel is correct in that stand.

A Peculiar Policy Of Law Enforcement

THE QUESTIONS RAISED with regard to the peculiarly discriminating policy of enforcing the anti-gambling laws here are pertinent. They were prompted by the sudden banning of a little paddle wheel game at the twelfth annual festival of the North End Playground Association.

If gambling is to be prevented, or if it is to be restricted, some sense of proportion ought to be exercised about it, and this can be said without approving games of chance,—and this newspaper does not condone them—particularly those which are deemed the most harmful.

Accordingly, the questions raised seem pertinent. These are why a little paddle wheel game, operated to raise funds for a worthy purpose, that of supplying recreational facilities deemed to be needed by children, is shut down by law enforcement officers when the official eyes are blinked at race bookmaking, the numbers racket, slot machines, tip boards, pool room gambling and teen-age drinking, particularly by girls. Bingo is a game of chance, but the state goverinment has legalized it for charitable purposes.

While a more realistic evaluation of moral factors seems in order, what appears to be most needed is a course of treatment for stabismus.

YOUR INNER NEEDS

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Our inner needs are so few in number as regards our genuine happiness. Our troubles and problems begin when we over-reach them, leaving them behind, not following them.

There are natural calls within all. And these calls are for the essentials that bring health to the body and spiritual peace to the mind. More and more I discover that Nature is the great benefactor, offering us knowledge and information that many watchful observers have yet to learn.

To be alone, under covering of the sky, and with all the silent forces of the earth working out their destiny, is certainly one way of getting in tune with the Infinite. There is an endless communion going on in Nature. I wonder what the two small birds are thinking about, as they sit silently beside the nest that has apparently just been built? I look and watch, and between us all there must be an unconscious communion. Thoughts come and go to me as I watch. I feel close to the overall of the earth.

People who dote on rich foods, and strive for wealth, boasting of their luxuries, all but smother the finer inner cells that bless and build so many. What can society offer to the hungry soul? Starved itself, how can it offer food to the needy? Yet in Nature there is an abundance for both the body and soul. And at a price that you are willing to pay—no more.

Those inner needs of yours, follow them, no matter where they may lead you. They are natural leaders. We were put into this world to work for our sustenance, the same as the wild fowl and animals, and we ought to be just as happy in doing it. Beyond that our inner needs are next in importance, and if we neglect them, our liabilities are apt to be very great and difficult to cope with.

How few there are who dare to be independent of society, to stand out as an entity, free and happy with the few inner needs adequately fed and nourished! The multitude of pines and hard wood that surround me at this small island summer home of mine, tell me more than people could, and at nightime as I look into the heavens, I can speculate upon wonders that the greatest of scientists still puzzle themselves about.

OVERTURE FROM A DROWNING RAT

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Braden Will Be Named Under-Secretary, Thus Slapping Argentina, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes already has two key men up his sleeve for top jobs in the State department. Unless something changes his mind before he gets back from Potsdam, the new undersecretary of state, replacing Joe Grew, will be Spruille Braden, now U. S. ambassador to Argentina; while the assistant secretary for Latin America, replacing Nelson Rockefeller, will be Norman Armour, now U. S. ambassador to Spain.

The promotion of Braden to be under secretary will be a direct slap at the Argentines, where crowds have been booing Braden and handbills have been posted all over Buenos Aires denouncing him because of an accident in the Braden copper mines in Chile.

Braden is a political diplomat with plenty of career experience. He worked on the fringes of the old Roosevelt Brain Trust in 1932, and FDR considered appointing him ambassador to Chile in 1933. However, there was too much resentment from Chilean labor because of Braden's heavy copper interests there and he was given one of the hardest diplomatic jobs in the Western Hemisphere instead. He was made a diplomatic trouble-shooter to iron out the Chaco war between Bolivia and Paraguay, and other troubles in the Western Hemisphere. Later Braden became ambassador to Colombia and Cuba where he did an A-1 job.

Norman Armour, slated to succeed Nelson Rockefeller, is one of the outstanding career diplomats, having been ambassador to Argentina and Chile, and Minister to Canada and Haiti. When Braden leaves Argentina as ambassador, his post will not be filled—a slap at the Argentine fascists, and also indirectly at the State department group who rushed us into Argentine recognition at San Francisco.

England's Ex-King

There were half a dozen empty chairs last week as Hugh Fulton, former counsel for the Truman committee, hosted a luncheon in Washington's swank Hotel Statler for the Duke of Windsor. Fulton, whose New York law firm represents the Duke's interests in this country, had invited a small group of high Washington officials and the entire membership of the Mead committee (formerly the Truman committee) at the Duke's special request.

Half a dozen busy senators found time to rush to the Statler for the luncheon, which they described as a pleasant affair with no particular political significance.

High spot of the luncheon was furnished by Wyoming's Senator Joe O'Mahoney, who produced a letter from an Episcopalian minister in his state. The letter related the plight of an Englishman who had married an American woman and settled in Wyoming. The Englishman now wants to be naturalized, the minister wrote, but is running into difficulty because his wife is determined to press charges of assault against him.

If he didn't beat his wife, he should have, the minister wrote O'Mahoney.

The letter was shown to the Duke, who remarked:

"I can testify that the Church of England is peculiar about domestic life. Here is a minister of the Church in apparent approval of domestic disharmony. Yet when I decided to marry, the Church of England insisted that I step down as king because my wife-to-be had been divorced.

"The amusing thing to me," continued the former King of England, "is that the Church of England was originally founded by Henry VIII in order to provide clerical sanction for his several divorces."

Note—King Henry VIII had six wives.

Soldier Slap-Down?

Another Patton soldier slap-down on a lesser scale has just been settled by Gen. Eisenhower, resulting in a reprimand for Brig. Gen. Julius Slack.

Gen. Slack, an artillery commander in Patton's Third army, was reprimanded for "intemperate and reprehensible actions and language" toward twenty-two enlisted men in an alleged rape case.

Slack had accused three enlisted men of taking two German women, at the point of their guns, upstairs in a German house, where other men watched the rape.

But according to Pvt. Walter M. Coulter, of Providence, R. I., Gen. Slack acted "on the word of two German women who are without doubt as fanatical as the German army that we have given the best years of our lives to defeat.

"We were taken to headquarters, Two Hundred and Fourth field artillery battalion, where we had the most insulting talk delivered to us that we ever had to endure. Gen. Slack called us a bunch of dirty ----- two or three times. He told the three men accused of rape that he would personally see that they were hanged and underground within thirty days. He also said that his judge advocate had never lost a case an would not lose this one."

But when fair-minded Senator Theodore Green, of Rhode Island, heard about this, he asked Under Secretary of War Patterson for an investigation. Gen. Eisenhower, in turn, ordered a full report by the inspector general, on the basis of which Eisenhower reported that he was reprimanding Gen. Slack, though he added the general "has a long record of arduous and efficient battle service."

The enlisted men accused in the case were court-martialed, and all twenty-two who were present at the scene were acquitted.

New Soviet Ambassador

Nobody quite knows what is behind it, but Joe Stalin and V. Molotov have decided to transfer sphinx-like, youthful Ambassador Andrei Gromyko out of the palatial Soviet embassy in Washington right after the Potsdam conference.

Gromyko was Number Two man of the embassy under Maxim Litvinov, and succeeded to Litvinov's job after the one-time Russian foreign minister and champion of collective security was ordered back to Russia two years ago.

Since then, cold, unsmiling Gromyko has not got on too well in the capital. But he is well liked in Russia, where he is considered one of the Soviet's up-and-coming diplomats, and he may become assistant commissar for foreign affairs.

Gromyko's successor hasn't been chosen yet, but may be another equally unknown Russian diplomat, Alexander N. Kapustin, now counselor of the Soviet embassy in Washington.

Capitol Chaff

Senator Kenneth Wherry, of Nebraska, who had been loud in his denunciation of the misuse of air priorities and excessive travel by Senate committee investigators, called the army last week for a priority for Katherine Guyon, of the Small Business committee, to go to Grand Island, Neb. Wherry wanted her to look into the complaint of Grand Island restaurant owners against OPA. Wherry himself talked the army into giving Miss Guyon a priority . . . . A new post office in Memphis, Tenn., has been named the McKellar Branch office . . . . Senator Joe Ball, of Minnesota, where the Farmer-Laborites are still influential, is getting more and more in dutch with them. They are furious over the sad-faced senator's blocking of Miss Viena Johnson, who had been nominated by President Truman to be internal revenue collector in Minnesota. In a letter secretly sent the Senate Finance committee, Ball accused Miss Johnson—a political enemy—of being a Fellow-Traveler. She was a leading supporter of Farmer-Laborite Elmer Benson against Ball for the Senate in 1942 . . . . Representatives Ned Healy, of Los Angeles, and Hugh Delacy, of Seattle, canceled trips to the South Pacific in order to stay in Washington and vote for the FEPC . . . . Warner Brothers has appointed Ted Tod as "story scout" for Washington. His job will be to pick up possible movie material from the more than a thousand newspaper and magazine writers and columnists in the capital.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

ENROUTE MARSEILLES TO NICE — Well, we're up in the air again. If this column is slightly crumby it's because I'm trying to juggle a typewriter on a pile of suitcases and eat a very loose sandwich at the same time.

We just left the Marseilles staging area after playing to about 150,000 Pacific-bound troops. We said goodbye to Pfc. Julio Faraone of Providence, R. I., who's been our driver for the past few days. He's been overseas for 27 months and says that when he gets back home Rhode Island is going to look mighty big to him.

I feel like a new man today because I was finally able to put on a clean shirt. Laundry is quite a problem for us because we're never in one place long enough to get it done. In fact it was getting so bad my best friends were starting to tell me. But we got wonderful treatment in Marseilles. I took my laundry over to the quartermaster corps (I didn't exactly take it over; I just opened the door, pointed the way and it made it on its own) and the boys there managed to get it out for me in twenty-four hours. When it came back, instead of a bill, there was a poem inside by Pfc. T. Rooney, as follows:

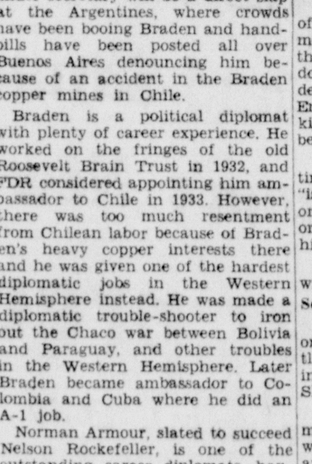

"We are the laundry commandos, it's true,
We thrive on soap, though we're sour and blue,
We work all day and half the night
To get your laundry nice and white.
We sincerely hope when this is done,
You'll think of Q.M. Laundry One."
"—320 and Q187 QM LAUNDRY DEPT."

There are lots of guys in this war who are doing jobs like those laundry commandos. They don't have any glory and they don't make many headlines but they're very important just the same. No matter where you find a GI, you'll always find a sense of humor. That's one of the things that makes the American soldier tops.

We're headed now for the French Riviera to see the boys in the rest areas at Cannes and Nice. That's where swanky European society used to tilt teacups. Now the place is full of Yanks and every night they let 'em tilt the whole town.

Naval Objectives Get Priority Now In Bombing Japs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 26—As far as the dispatches from the Pacific are concerned, the reader is given the impression that a lot of ships are bombarding and a lot of airplanes of the army and navy and marine corps are dropping bombs in various parts of Japan. It looks at first glance as if all the different branches of the service are doing about the same thing. But that is not the case.

The objective of the United States Navy at the moment is to destroy every vestige of the Japanese naval fleet and to test out coast defenses. Obviously, when the time comes for an invasion, the protection of landings will be the responsibility of the navy and it will be necessary for our warships and transports to remain off shore for a considerable length of time. Hence it is imperative that the Japanese be deprived at once of any means of counterattack from the sea, either by naval craft emerging from the numerous bays and inland seas to make sudden attacks on our ships or by operations of land-based planes.

Brilliant Mission

The army air forces, flying the Superfortresses from bases in the Marianas, are performing a brilliant mission in destroying strategic targets, including large factory areas. Inasmuch as the Superforts fly at great heights, it is not possible always to drop bombs on precise targets. The Navy and marine planes, flying at lower levels, can do pinpoint bombing. Thus far the statistics show that about one-fourth of the bombs dropped by the Superforts of the army air forces have been on precise targets.

This ratio will tend to grow better later on, though it is quite possible that the strategic targets for B-29's will be exhausted in the next few months and the principal job of the army air forces will also be precision bombing with smaller bombers from bases on Okinawa. The value of Okinawa lies in the fact that short-range bombers and fighters can be employed for around-the-clock bombing of nearly every part of Japan and certain areas on the China coast.

While the Philippines will be used as a base for supplies and the amassing of military might generally, it is 1,800 miles from Japan, whereas Okinawa is only about 370 miles.

The value of Iwo Jima—275 miles from Japan—lies in the fact that the B-29's from the Marianas have been able to go to Japan on their long-range journeys and pick up fighter planes at Iwo Jima to escort them to their targets and back.

Naval Operations Uppermost

The naval flyers from the decks of carriers have had a certain amount of strategic bombing to do, too, but they have also selected targets which bear a particular relationship to operations of the navy. Thus, it was necessary for the naval carriers to destroy particular installations which could be used to retaliate against the fleet and hence they have bombed naval bases as well as anchorages where the Japanese fleet was known to be hiding.

The work of the naval forces—battleships, cruisers, destroyers and carriers—ever since the direct strikes on Japan began last March, has been effective not only in keeping the Japanese fleet in hiding but in destroying naval bases from which Japanese naval pilots might attempt defense.

The fact that our navy is making an increasing number of direct bombardments on the coast of Japan indicates that army and navy flyers have destroyed or damaged the biggest bases and that pre-invasion preparations are under way. Undoubtedly for many weeks to come the American navy will be roaming up and down the coast destroying naval bases and also factories and installations or coast defenses which could possibly be utilized against an invasion fleet.

Japs in the Dark

The Japanese, of course, cannot know what places will be selected for landings and they cannot even guess the American plan from an examination of the naval operations of the last few months, because the objective of the navy is to destroy anything and everything that could possibly be of value along the Japanese coast line as well as inside the numerous bays from which defensive warfare could be waged.

Although there are always some difficulties in co-ordinating joint operations of services in the army and navy, it is a fact that to date the use of weapons above, below and on the surface has been well co-ordinated. There is a job cut out for each of the services and up to now it can be said that the job is being done well. Even though the details of why particular carrier strikes or bombardments are made by the navy and particular raids are executed by the army air forces cannot, of course, be divulged by the military authorities at this time either here or in the Pacific.

Food Is Cited as One of Factors In Delinquency

By ROGER W. BABSON

GLOUCESTER, Mass., July 26—This city where I was brought up has its youth problem the same as every other city. It is probably worse today than when I was a boy; but considering the additional distractions of today, such as automobiles, movies, radios and funnies, the situation is not so much worse. I am sure that if these new factors had existed fifty years ago the youth problem would then have been serious.

Four Basic Reasons

There are four basic reasons for behavior, viz: heredity, environment including home training, religion and food. When discussing the teen-agers or the bobby-sox girls of today, it is too late to consider heredity so far as they are concerned. Their die has been cast. Furthermore, as everyone recognizes the importance of home-training, I need not here discuss this, except to say that much of the trouble which parents are having is due to the poor example they set.

I will say something about the other two factors, namely, religion and food, to which we owe ninety per cent of our troubles and disappointments as well as our successes and pleasures. Certainly the behavior of our children is greatly influenced by what they believe and by what they eat. Too many preachers seem to think that religion is something apart from food and drink. There is nothing in the Bible which substantiates this notion. In fact, the food which the Jews were allowed to eat, by their priests, was an important part of their religious ritual.

Watch for Allergies

I am not a physician, psychologist nor dietitian, but I do know that food is a real factor in my feelings, behavior and mentality. For instance, I know that eating an excess of tomatoes will not only give me physical pain but also interfere with my mental activity and make me ugly. This does not mean that tomatoes necessarily bother anyone else. Different people are allergic to different things, including foods, climates and odors. Hay fever sufferers are an excellent example.

I will not further amplify the above thought so far as different foods affect us physically. The thought which I want readers to consider is that the mental and spiritual attitudes of both adults and children are largely caused by the foods eaten. When a boy is irresponsible, destructive or a thoroughly "bad boy," as the neighbors call him, he may be eating something to which he is mentally allergic. The action of the brain is determined by the quality and quantity of the blood flow through the brain. This blood flow is determined by what your boy eats, drinks, breathes and thinks.

Schools and Churches

Notwithstanding the above, school committees are giving almost no attention to this important subject. It is true that some of the schools are now providing lunches, but there is no attention given to selecting different lunches for different students. Yet, foods which are nourishing to the brains of some students are poison to the brains of other students. Moreover, this applies likewise to parents although as we get older, we tend to get immune to some of these poisons.

The future of the church depends on getting back to the old Bible teachings that there is no line of division between our religion and our habits. In Bible days good health was a sign of righteousness; while poor health was an evidence of sin. In order to survive in this present scientific and rapidly-moving world, the church must be open to new ideas and must also be open at all times to give advice and counsel along these fundamental lines of food, habits and faith.

Soils Are Important

History clearly teaches how our ancesors of the Seventeenth century became discouraged and unruly as they existed on the run-down soils of England; but that they developed initiative and vitality when living off the virgin soils of New England and Virginia after emigrating. In the final analysis, a family or community depends not only upon what it eats but also upon the soil upon which these foods are raised. Perhaps the Prussians owe their fighting qualities to their soils!

Pfc. Gerald Barb Arrives Home

Pfc. Gerald Barb, 28, husband of Mrs. Elsie Elizabeth Barb, 303 Avirett avenue, and father of two sons, arrived home yesterday on furlough after serving eight months at Oran, North Africa, as a railroad brakeman in the transportation corps of the Persian Gulf Command.

Pfc. Barb called his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barb, 316 Paca street, from Fort George G. Meade wednesday, where he was being processed prior to returning home. He landed at LaGuardia field, N. Y., Monday after flying home from North Africa aboard an Air Transport Command plane.

Prior to entering the army May 7, 1944, Pfc. Barb was employed by the B. and O. railroad for three years as a conductor on the run between Cumberland and Brunswick. He received his army training at Cheyenne, Wyo.; New Orleans, La.; and Camp Reynolds, Pa., before going overseas.

Two brothers are also in the service. Charles Barb, Jr., has been in the Hawaiian islands for three years with a military police detachment and Marshall Barb is attending a naval aviation gunnery school at Jacksonville, Fla.

All Foreign Weapons Must Be Registered

All persons who have received a foreign weapon from overseas are required by government regulation to register the weapon, according to Charles E. Cushwa, federal tax unit agent for Western Maryland.

Cushwa also warned recipients of foreign weapons that sale, transfer or other disposal of the weapon is subject to a $200 federal tax.

Registrations of weapons must be made on a form which may be obtained from the local internal revenue office, Post Office building. The law concerns all types of foreign-made weapons.

Since a serviceman needs permission from his commanding officer in order to send a weapon home, Cushwa pointed out, the government has a record of the weapons sent to this country.

School Group Plans Affiliation with NEA

Plans were made yesterday by the National League to Promote School Attendance at the Allegany county board of education building to affiliate with the National Education Association to A. G. Ramey, Frostburg, secretary.

Carl Morneweck, Harrisburg, Pa., was named chairman of the committee to confer with the NEA group.

Martha Smith, Birmingham, was voted to continue as editor of the National Leaguer, a newsletter. Charles L. Mosher, Santa Monica, Cal., will continue as assistant editor. Edwin Stein, Baltimore, succeeds Alice Sheldon, Washington, as chairman of the membership committee.

Allegany Graduate Staff, Students Are Entertained

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Kester Are Hosts at Series of Summer Parties

Dr. Eugene Kester, member of the staff at Allegany hospital, and Mrs. Kester are entertaining the graduate staff and the entire student body of Allegany Hospital School of Nursing in groups of twenty, at intervals throughout the summer, at their home in LaVale. The first group were guests, Wednesday evening at a wiener roast in the garden.

Later in the evening an impromptu program was given, consisting of group singing and informal talks by the host and hostess on China and their work there.

Returning from China to the United States a little over eight years ago, Dr. and Mrs. Kester resided in Centerville, Pa., for about six years before moving to Cumberland. Dr. Kester has maintained an office here for the past two and one half years and Mrs. Kester and their two children joined him here about a year ago.

Mrs. Kester told of her five years in China, when she served in a secretarial capacity with the Presbyterian mission in Canton, South China. Dr. Kester taught surgery in Hackett Medical college, and in David Gregg hospital, both in Canton. Later he was connected with the Canton sanitarium, which he explained is an entirely Chinese hospital.

Antiques and curios from China which the couple have in their home and were shown include quite a lot of old Chinese embroidery, consisting of tapestries and wall hangings, which the hostess explained came from the cuffs of Mandarin costumes, bed hangings, and fronts of wedding dresses. There were also table linens; wood carvings from the old Confucius temples around Canton; an old carved ivory lady, carved ivory chop sticks and napkin rings; wood carving including a God of Thunder and a God of Happiness; a black wood opium bench and a teakwood chest with a camphor wood lining.

The next in the series of parties will be held about the middle of next month.

First Baptist Award Prizes At Annual Picnic

Approximately 150 members of the First Baptist church attended the annual Sunday school picnic held yesterday at the Celanese park, under the direction of Glenmore Rice.

A program of organized play was arranged for the children during the afternoon and prizes were awarded. Beginning with a pop drinking contest won by Ann Lynn, it included an ice cream eating contest in which the participants were blindfolded and had to feed their partners the ice cream. The winners were June Whitaker, Janet Matlick, Donald Pullin and Wendel Goss.

Winners in the race when peanuts were pushed along with the fingers were Sylvia Miller and James Alderton. The sack race was won by Janet and Richard Matlick; the mixed shoe race by Richard Matlick and the wheelbarrow race, by James Alderton and June Whitaker.

The three inning soft ball game between the boys and girls was called because of rain with a score of 3-1 for the boys. Swimming was held preceding the picnic dinner and a men's nine inning softball game concluded the program with the single men defeating the married men 23 to 8.

William Miller, Carl Herpich, Frank Hinze and Russell Weber comprised the committee assisting in arrangements. Mrs. Gilbert Markwood, Mrs. Robert Moreland and Mrs. Harry Tritt had charge of the supper.

Memorial Auxiliary Officers and Board Will Meet July 31

How To Quick-Freeze Garden Produce

BLANCH with boiling water.

COOL with ice water.

PACKAGE securely.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

You may not have acquired a deep-freeze unit for your own home. However, after the war is over and production starts, you will very likely want one, especially if you have your own fruit and vegetable garden.

There are thousands of community deep-freeze lockers throughout the country. If one of these is available to you, you will want to know how to prepare your garden produce for freezing.

If they are prepared, frozen and stored properly, vegetables particularly are as near to the just- from-the-vine state as you'll ever get them out of season. Nutritionally, they're frequently better than so-called "fresh" foods bought in the market.

Learning Not Difficult

Learning how to prepare fruits and vegetables properly for quick-freezing is not difficult, but warning should be given. Every step in the preparation is important. You will have waste and spoilage if you don't do it right.

Here are some important things to remember, as set down by one of the big companies which will be ready to sell you a home deep-freezer after the war.

1. Freezing will not make good food out of bad. Always select and freeze foods of good quality.

2. If you grow your own fruits and vegetables for freezing, your State Department of agriculture can tell you which varieties freeze best. This varies in different localities.

3. Speed in handling from harvesting to freezing is of utmost importance, whether you use a community locker or a home freezer.

4. Frozen foods will dry out if not properly wrapped and packaged in suitable moisture-vapor-proof material.

5. When placing liquid or semi-liquid food in containers, never fill more than 9-10ths full to allow for expansion during freezing.

6. When the storage compartment is held at zero degrees Fahrenheit, most foods properly prepared will keep for approximately a year.

Always label any package of food you prepare for quick-freezing with the contents and date frozen, so that you can keep track of the length of time foods have been held in the freezer.

Blanching

Blanching vegetables (not necessary for most fruits) helps maintain original taste and quality. Prepare vegetables the way you do for cooking. For blanching process be sure that utensils and water are clean and pure. The boiling water method of blanching is the simplest for home preparation. Here are the necessary steps:

1. Bring an ample quantity of water to the boil (6-10 quarts for blanching a pound of vegetables).

2. Place vegetables in wire basket or strainer and immerse completely in boiling water.

3. Count blanching time from the moment the water begins to boil again. Time varies for different vegetables and different sizes of the same vegetables.

4. As soon as the blanching is completed cool the vegetables as raipdly as possible, by placing them in ice water or cold running tap water. Drain.

Be sure to have moisture, vapor-proof packaging ready and package the vegetables immediately. Care must be taken to force as nearly as possible all the air from the package before it is sealed with heat—which can be done with a curling iron or a hot flat iron. The usual inner package is a celophane bag, which is then put into a cardboard box for freezing.

Prepare only a few vegetables at a time—say, enough for three or four boxes. Store each in the refrigerator as its preparation is completed, if you are taking them to a community locker later.

Pacific, European Veteran Returns

By MRS. RAYMOND ROBERTSON

GILMORE, July 26 — Technical Sgt Raymond F. James, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas James, Jr., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas James, Sr., Gilmore, is nome on a thirty-day furlough after service in both the Pacific and European theaters.

In the army six years, Sgt. James spent four years in Hawaii and the south Pacific and a year in Europe as an engineer-gunner aboard an AAF B-26. He has served fifty-nine combat missions over Italy, France and Germany and has 174 points.

Sgt. James holds the Air Medal with eight Oak Leaf Clusters, a Presidential Citation and six battle stars.

While in France Sgt. James met his two brothers—Pvt. Melvin K. James and Pfc. John M. James, an infantryman.

At the end of his furlough Sgt. James will report to North Carolina where he will be assigned instructor's duty in the States.

Jenkins Returns

Pfc. Robert S. Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Jenkins, Gilmore, is home on furlough after having served with the Timberwolf division in Europe.

He wears the Purple Heart, the Bronze Star, Combat Medics Badge and two battle participation stars. His three brothers in the service are overseas.

Personals

A party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Campbell Sunday in honor of their daughter, Ann Campbell, on her sixth birthday. Many guests were present. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bond and Mrs. Wilma Robertson, Gilmore, and Miss Jane Murphy, Philadelphia, spent a week camping at Deep Creek Lake.

BM 2-c William Green recently spent a leave with his mother, Mrs. John House.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Landis and granddaughter, Linda Ray Landis, Baltimore, are here on their vacation.

Too Much Faith In Day Dreams May Be Mistake

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I'm 20 years old, married since I was 16 to a man eleven years my senior, but I'm not happy. I think constantly of a childhood sweetheart, now in the army, of whose friendship my parents disapproved because he was a second cousin. He went into the army and I haven't seen him for four years.

"After he left, my husband came along and I was so thrilled to think a man his age would look at me. He had money, an automobile and all the girls envied me. So I married him, and had more clothes and money than I ever dreamed of. My parents were poor, and there were six of us. I wrote the soldier about my marriage, and he wished me happiness.

"I traveled from place to place following my husband's job. Had no friends my age, and finally began thinking about the soldier. I wrote him and he replied saying he was so disappointed when I married, as he had hoped to ask me when I was old enough. I left my husband, but he made me come back again. My baby girl had died meanwhile.

"My husband knows about the soldier, and although he says he loves me very much, he leaves it up to me. He's a good provider but is very jealous, and we don't like the same things. The soldier is now discharged and is coming home. I don't know what to do. Everybody tells me how foolish I'd be to leave my good husband for someone I think I love. I'm fond of my husband, but have never felt for him what I feel for the soldier. Please advise me.

You admit your husband's generosity and good points, but say you no longer love him. Isn't it largely imagination, day-dreaming, longing for something you have not, that makes you think you're in love with this man you haven't seen for four years? Perrhaps he's been day-dreaming about you, as is the way of some soldiers, yet having a pretty good time on the side.

You say your husband knows about him, but leaves the decision up to you. This proves him to be a man of the most generous instincts, a type one doesn't meet every day.

It was too bad your baby girl died. If she had lived I'm confident you would be more contented, as you would be if the stork again favored you. There's nothing like putting an end to wool-gathering day-dreams, as having such a miracle of delight around the home as a baby.

It's an Asset

LONDON—(AP)—A man with a duodenal ulcer "is usually of special value to industry for he is ever- conscientious, with plenty of drive and a sense of good standards of work," wrote a contributor to the British Medical Journal.

Orr Says Policemen Will Receive Weekly Days off after Races

Weekly days off for members of the Cumberland police force will be inaugurated at the end of the Fairgo racing season whether or not additional men are secured by that time, James Orr, police and fire commissioner, reported yesterday.

The city official explained that schedules arranged by Detective Lt. R. Emmett Flynn and Lt. James E. Van have proved helpful.

Orr also announced that Ray Saville, 34, of 353 Bedford street, named a probationer of the department did not meet physical qualifications and left the service the following day. Several other applicants, he added, are under consideration and will be appointed, subject to civil service approval, after they have passed physical examinations.

Man Arrested Here Sent to Prison

Duncan D. Pate, Charlotte, N. C., was sentenced to two and a half years in a federal penitentiary Thursday by Federal Judge William C. Coleman in Baltimore, for the theft of an automobile.

Pate, who had been working in Front Royal, Va., stole a car in that city, testimony showed, and he drove to Cumberland where he made the acquaintance of a local woman. On July 4 Pate was involved in a headon collision of two cars at the intersection of Park street and Central avenue. The woman was injured in the crash.

The car Pate was driving was traced by the FBI and federal charges were placed against him while he was serving a sentence in the Allegany county jail for reckless driving.

Local News in Brief

Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich said yesterday that blacktopping work at the airport was started Wednesday, and that resurfacing work on Virginia avenue has been postponed temporarily with the transfer of equipment to the airport. Runway No. 1 will be extended 1,500 feet and Runway No. 2, which is 3,500 feet long, will be blacktopped. Helfrich estimated that the work will take two or three weeks.

Eighteen members of Boy Scout Troop No. 2, B and O. Y.M.C.A., last night honored two former members just returned from overseas service with a watermelon feast at Constitution Park. The guests were Pfc. Paul Thrasher and Seaman First Class Donald Hoyle.

Schaffer Resigns As First National Bank Trust Officer

Clarence F. Schaffer has resigned as trust officer of the First National bank it was announced at the bank yesterday.

Bank officials said that Schaffer, who has been connected with the bank for thirty years, submitted his resignation to the board of directors a month ago, indicating he planned to retire. The resignation becomes effective August 1. His successor has not been appointed.

Lt. Grabenstein Is Back in the States

Forst Lt. Herman J. Grabenstein, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Grabenstein, 604 Greene street, telephoned his mother yesterday that he has arrived in San Francisco, Calif., from the Pacific theater and expected to arrive home next week.

Lt. Grabenstein served as flight engineer with a B-29 Superfortress unit since last October 25. He flew on thirty-five combat missions over Japan and territories in the immediate vicinity of the Japanese homeland.

A brother, Cpl. Thomas A. Grabenstein, is a member of an ordnance unit, now stationed at Marseille, France, awaiting transfer to the Pacific.

Held for Investigation

Walter Grimes, Terra Alta, W. Va., is being held "for investigation" in the city jail. He was arrested last evening at 9:55 o'clock in Baltimore street by Detective Edwin R. Lilya. The West Virginia man will be questioned at the state's attorney's office this morning at 10 o'clock, police said.

sustain her economy and permit the payment of just reparation in kind, but not those industries which will enable her to rearm for war.

"To this end access to, as distinguished from control of, raw materials shall be permitted. Eventual Japanese participation in world trade relations shall be permitted.

"12. The occuppjying forces of the Allies shall be withdrawn from Japan as soon as these objectives have been accomplished and there has been established in accordance with the freely-expressed will of the Japanese people a peacefully inclined and responsible government.

"13. We call upon the government of Japan to proclaim now the unconditional surrender of all Japanese armed forces, and to provide proper and adequate aspurances of their good faith in such action. The alternative for Japan is prompt and utter destruction."

Army Names Theater For Local Man

A service publication yesterday reported that a theater for soldiers has been named in honor of a Cumberland soldier who lost his life two years ago.

The soldier, Pvt. Leonard N Ervine, who formerly lived with his wife at 18 Ridgeway Terrace, lost his life two years ago in a swimming accident in North Africa.

Pvt. Ervine served overseas with the 759th Railway Battalion. His memory has been kept alive by his buddies now on duty in Germany who named their new theater the "Ervine Memorial Theater."

The story was reported in the July issue of the "Yankee Bomber," a publication of the 707th Railway Division. The report received here was the first regarding Ervine's death.

LISTEN WORLD!

—By Elsie Robinson

(Registered U S Patent Office)

WHY CAN'T THEY CLICK?

So they come back from war, with the stink and terror knawing at their vitals and a fierce hunger for home consuming them. War, for many, is behind them. But once landed, they find a worse war awaiting them.

No, it isn't the domestic shift you've been hearing about—the strangeness between half remembered husbands and wives . . . the mutual bewilderment and resentment . . . the jealousy of the wife's job . . . the feeling that they are still homeless, unwanted. Nor is it the difficulty of finding a job, gathering new friends, making life click again. These shocks and surprises might have come after any protracted absence. Nor is war itself to blame. The dismay, both to those who went and those who waited, is due to something else. Something inside ourselves, that started long before the war began—something that was sown in our kindergarten years.

IT'S THE FEAR OF CHANGE.

Why can't our returning soldiers and sailors fit into the homes, the jobs, the country they left? That why! That home, job and country have changed. The old days have old ways have been blotted out for keeps. And those who went and those who waited can't take it.

We should be able to take it. At our start we were a pioneer nation which welcomed change. Change was not an unhappy accident—it was our birthright. Our pioneer fathers and grandfathers were willing wanderers, and accomplished miracles by that wandering. We should have inherited their willingness. But we haven't. There are unknown trails before us as there were unknown trails two hundred years ago. But we do not seek them with the same eagerness. We have lost the old zest for adventure. Why? Because we have become a successful nation. We have achieved success and the safety and comfort that go with it.

While we are at war we fight fiercely, patiently and loyally and take chances as they come. But when the war is over we want to go back to the old havens and we can't find them. They have disappeared inevitably in the process of our growth, but we do not stop to realize that. We think that some ugly phenomenon is at work. We feel that if we wait long enough the old world will return. But it never will. It was never intended to.

What's wrong with this post-war world? Just that—the fear of change. We want to go back to yesterday and it is impossible. There's nothing wrong in that. Worlds were meant to change and people with them. They rot if they don't. So what?

Man is naturfally a roving creature.

We were meant to change.

Then what's holding us up?

We blame it on the war or social revolution. But that's wrong. They are not responsible for the chaos in which we are involved. Only the fear in ourselves is responsible for that chaos.

Kick yourself loose! Get going!

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Defeat of Churchill Government Puts Stock Market on Downgrade

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Bearish interpretations placed on the sharp swing to the left in the British elections and substantial defeat of the Churchill government today put the stock market generally on the downgrade with losses ranging from one to more than three points.

In addition to the cloudy news from London, brokerage clients were inspired to cautious procedure pending Far Eastern war developments and resumption of the Potsdam conference under a new English political setup. Earnings, dividends and special situations aided a few favorites.

An isolated strong spot was Graham-Paige which rose 1 1-8 to 9, a 1945 peak, in the wake of this company's tieup with Henry J. Kaiser in an automotive manufacturing organization.

United States Steel and Bethlehem lost 1 3-4 points each and, after the close, the latter voted the usual $1.50 dividend and reported net per share of $2.15 in the June quarter against $1.77 in the like 1944 period and $2.03 in the March quarter this year.

Prominent casualties included Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, Chrysler, United States Rubber, American Telephone, International Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Standar Oil (NJ), du Pont and Johns-Manville.

In the curb Graham-Paige preferred advanced 1 1-8 to 26 1-2 on sales of 29,400 shares. The aggregate here was 370,000 shares versus 210,000 yesterday.

Large areas of the bond market ended behind minus signs of major fractions to around two points today, reflecting surprise in financial quarters generally over the British election results.

Rails paced the rather orderly retreat counterbalanced in some measure by resistance of some higher priced industrials and utilities. Government bonds weakened one-fourth to one-half point or more in late transactions.

Heaviest losers in the selloff included American Telephone 3s, Baltimore and Ohio stamped convertibles of 1960. Central of Georgia 5s, Central of New Jersey 5s, Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s, Chicago and Alton 3s, St. Paul 5s and adjustment 5s, Rock Island 4½, Lehigh Valley 4s and Katy adjustment 5s.

Scattered gainers included Shell Union Oil 2 3-4s, Swift and Company 2 3-4s, Union Pacific 3 1-2s, Western Union 5s and Wheeling Steel 3 1-4s.

Chicago Grain Prices

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Grain futures fluctuated nervously today, opening off, rallying rather sharply, and then dipping again to close with losses ranging from fractions to more than a cent.

Conflicting influences were at work, and the main depressing factor apparently was the weakness of New York stocks because of the overthrow of the Churchill government in the British election. Trade authorities said the election had relatively little direct effect on trading here. Closing futures:

ive Class Members Are Accompanied on Tour by Instructor

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, July 26—The speech ass of the summer school of Frostrg State Teachers college, accomnied by Prof. Maurice Matteson, structor, paid a visit to the olmes-Wallace studio in Grantsle, Tuesday afternoon.

In addition to being guests at an formal tea, they were given an portunity to explore the studio d its contents, which include a rary containing an almost comete file of the Atlantic Monthly om the first to the current issue.

The studio, an institution of rantsville for twenty-five years, is e workshop and the home of Miss chel Holmes and her niece, Miss rolyn Wallace, natives of Sewick-, Pa., and former school teachers the Pittsburgh area. They visited rantsville for the summer in 1920 d were so cordially received by e residents of the town that they cided to remain and establish the olmes-Wallace studio as a cul-ral center.

Miss Holmes teaches piano and amatics and Miss Wallace is a ice and art instructor. Opportuni-s offered by the studio are two ubs, the Literature club, which nds the latest books and dram the current New York season and e Treble Clef club, (temporarily active) affording an opportunity r musical expression to interested sidents.

Both Miss Holmes and Miss Wale are interested in dramatics and t and have thousands of books d a modern circulating library. e studio is furnished with anues and beautiful silver and ina. There is also an altar which used for holding Episcopal servs in the evening.

The occasion for the visit to the dio by the speech class of the llege, according to Prof. Matteh, was to afford the members an portunity to use conversational eech at its best to become acainted with educational opporities, outside the schools, in other alities.

Those who visited the studio with of. Matteson were Miss Mary R. ple, Cumberland; Miss Elizabeth per and Miss Marion Shaw, naconing; Miss Ruth Fazenbaker, antsville; and Miss Vadne Mil-Jennings.

STATE TEACHERS STUDENTS INSPECT OLD BOOKS

Had Been Ill at Ridgeville Since Returning from Florida

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., July 26 — Mrs. Mary Easter Waddell Hamilton, died this morning at 12:45, at the home of her daughter Mrs. Charles E. Amtower, at Ridgeville. She and her husband, Maj. L. R. Hamilton, spent the winter in Florida, returning several weeks ago. Since returning, Mrs. Hamilton had been ill at the home of her daughter.

She was a native of Fauquiere county, Virginia. Her parents were the late James and Mary M. Kerns Waddell. Her husband Maj. Hamilton was a veteran of the Spanish American war. They came to Keyser several years ago where he was engaged as a sheetmetal contractor. At the outbreak of the present war he entered the service and was attached to the Engineering department. He and wife lived for some time at Fort Meade, where he was stationed.

Mrs. Hamilon was a member of the Pentacostal church. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30, in the Markwood funeral home. The Rev. O. P. Brann, Pentacostal minister of Westernport, will officiate, assisting will be the Rev. Pete Saleskey, Pentacostal minister, of Keyser. Interment will be in Queens Point cemetery.

Besides her widower and daughter Mrs. Amtower, she is survived by the following children—Mrs. Albert Newton and Mrs. Emil Laury, Detroit; Pfc. William D. Hamilton, Av. Engineer, serving in the South Pacific; Frank J. Hamilton, Baltimore, and Clarence D. Hamilton, Hubbard, Ohio. There are several grandchildren.

Celebration Is Planned

A meeting of Queens Point Lodge, I.O.O.F., celebrating the close of the contest of the George E. Smith Memorial class campaign will be held Monday night, July 30. Features of the meeting will be the roll call and reception of a class numbering sixty.

The celebration will begin at 7:30 with a brief lodge session, followed by a dinner, served under the auspices of the National Limited crew, the losing team, at 8:15, in honor of the winning team, the Diplomat crew and the George E. Smith Memorial class. Following the dinner there will be a program of music and entertainment. Guest speakers will be Grand Master Carl B. Johnson, Park, West Virginia, and District Deputy Grand Master Harold C. Loughry, Parsons.

Fire Clay Deposits In Garrett County Will Be Investigated

ANNAPOLIS, July 26. (AP)—A total of $6,000 has been allocated from the state's general emergency fund for Maryland's participation in a projected investigation of the fire clay deposits in Garrett county, Governor O'Conor said today.

The survey will be undertaken in collaboration with the United States Geological Survey, the governor said. Further high grade fire clay deposits may be uncovered.

About $1,000 also has been granted to the state department of geology, mines and water resources to cover expenses for a Montgomery County Geological map and the manuscript for the Garrett county fire clay investigation report.

Deaths of Two Tri-State Men Are Reported

Deaths of two Tri-State soldiers, Sgt. Dorman C. Shaver, Mathias, W. Va., and Pfc. Richard E. Leighty, Cassville, W. Va., a former resident of Barrelville, have been announced by the War department.

Sgt. Shaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shaver, and the husband of Mrs. Lillian Lynch Shaver, Mathias, died in a German prison camp on March 23. He was the father of an 18-months old son. His death is attributed to malnutrition by the War department.

Entering the army in March 1943, Sgt. Shaver sailed for overseas duty last October as a member of an infantry division. He was captured last Dec. 16, the first day of the German counter-offensive on the Western front.

Pfc. Leighty was the son of Mrs. Maud E. Leighty, and lost his life in the Philippines last Dec. 20. He was killed while fighting with an infantry outfit in the island of Leyte. His father, Jesse C. Leighty, lost his life in a mine accident at Cassville, April 2, 1942.

Besides his mother, Pfc. Leighty is survived by two brothers, Jacob, Barrelville, and William, Cassville; and five sisters, Mrs. Marian Stevenson, and Betty, Shirley, Wilma, and Gail Leighty, all of Cassville.

Pfc. Leighty was a nephew of Mrs. Joseph L. Kasecamp, and a grandson of Jacob Leighty, both of Barrelville.

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

Sgt. James M. Burt, Lonaconing, will soon be returned to the United States after long service in Italy with the Fifteenth air force. He was a member of the veteran Four Hundred Sixty-ninth bombardment group.

Members of the Twenty-third corps of the Seven Hundred Sixty-third Field Artillery battalion, now stationed at Trier, Germany, the 2,000 year-old town on the Moselle river, are being taken on tours, the highlights of which include the Porta Nigra, northern gateway to the old Roman empire; the cathedral, of Roman origin, and the centuries-old market place. Pfc. Bouce H. Llewellyn, Jr., Rawlings, and Pvt. Virgil J. Frost, 112 West Main street, Frostburg are members of the unit.

Pfc. Ernest W. Valentine, husband of Mrs. Ruth V. Valentine, 202 East Lain avenue, Cumberland, who participated in campaigns in Germany as a rifleman, Company F., Three Hundred Fourth, Infantry regiment, has received the Bronze Star medal for meritorious service.

Master Sergeant Guy G. Shaffer, whose wife Mrs. Dorothea Shaffer, lives at 518 Maryland avenue, Cumberland, has been on foreign duty for twenty-four months with an air service unit of the Thirteenth Allied Air Forces Command in the Philippine islands. He is a graduate of Hyndman high school, and formerly was employed by the Celanese Corporation of America. Entering the service in April, 1942, he served at Will Rogers Field, Okla., and Topeka, Kans., army air base before going overseas. He wears two battle stars for participation in South and Southwest Pacific campaigns and the Good Conduct medal. His unit is part of the Thirteenth AAF, veteran jungle air force that has battled the Japs from Guadalcanal to China.

Pvt. George B. McGlinchey, 143½ Bedford street, is one of 100 enlisted men in the Three Hundred Eighteenth Infantry Regiment now stationed in Europe, who received the Combat Infantryman's badge for exemplary conduct against the enemy in the ETO.

Pfc. Marion W. Nesselrodt, 37 Oak street, Cumberland, is an automatic rifleman with the victorious Eightieth division, "Blue Ridge" Infantry division's heroic Second Battalion of the Three Hundred Eighteenth Infantry regiment, which recently received the coveted Presidential Unit citation in the name of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Richard Mosgrave Reich, chief pharmacists mate, Meyersdale, Pa., is serving aboard the USS Shangrila, the great aircraft carrier whose planes helped defeat the Japs in the recent Okinawa campaign, raining bombs, rockets and bullets on enemy pillboxes, caves, airfields and communications center, in support of the ground troops.

Pfc. Leslie Bevan, Frostburg, recently received the Bronze Star for heroic achievement in action in Italy. He served on the Fifth army front as a rifleman in the Three Hundred Thirty-seventh "Wolverine" regiment of the Eighty-fifth "Custer" division. Hs mother, Mrs. Sarah Bevan, lives at 57 Mount Pleasant street.

C. A. Simms, 24 Browning street, Cumberland, last week completed seventeen weeks of basic training at the United States Merchant Marine Cadet School at San Mateo, Calif. He will now be assigned to a merchant vessel for further training at sea, following which he will return to the United States Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N. Y., for completion of training and commissioning as an ensign in the merchant marine reserve, USNR.

Cpl. Joseph B. Lynch, Mt. Savage, is now located on Tinian in the Marianas islands with the Fifty-eighth Bombardment Wing, pioneer Superfortress unit which was transferred recently from the India-China theaters to the Pacific. Cpl. Lynch is an automotive mechanic in one of the air service groups. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Lynch, Mt. Savage.

Pfc. Elmer A. Marsh, 22, son of Lonnie Marsh, Sr., 309 Maryland avenue, Westernport, has been promated to sergeant. He is a squad leader in a heavy weapons company at a Pacific base. Following graduation from Bruce high school in 1941, Sgt. Marsh was a paper finisher for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company. In school he was a three letter man, playing varsity basketball, baseball and being a member of the track team. He entered the service in April 1943 and has been overseas for sixteen months.

How Could It Be Anything Else But GREAT...

Because its story comes from the pen of the great John Steinbeck, in collaboration with Jack Wagner—Because its script was written by the man who helped put all the delightful, deep-down heart-appeal in "Going My Way"... Frank Butler—Because, like Barry Fitzgerald in "Going My Way," J. Carrol Naish makes screen history in a brilliant new supporting role....
Because two great stars grow greater in brilliant dramatic performances—And because it has a theme as unusual, a story as tenderly moving as "Going My Way," how could it be anything else but GREAT!

Teachers Named By Tucker Board For Coming Year

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., July 26—Homer Brooks, coach of Rowlesburg high school, has been appointed as coach of Parsons high school for the coming year, Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent of schools, announced after the Tucker county board of education meeting held there tonight.

The board also appointed Earl Corcoran as principal of Parsons high school for the coming year. Corcoran has been assistant county superintendent of schools for the past four years. Jason Wolford, principal of the high school, will be the assistant county superintendent for the coming year.

The board also agreed to re-open the Limestone school with Bruce Auvil as teacher. The fourteen students of the Mount Olive school which will be closed this year, will be transported to the St. George school.

No commercial teacher has yet been hired to fill the vacancy in Parsons high school due to the resignation of Mrs. Edith Olson.

The schools will have six less teachers for the coming year with thirty-five high school teachers and seventy-six elementary teachers. There will be one less teacher in Parsons, Davis and Thomas high schools and one less teacher in the Piarce grade school.

Miss Paige DiBacco, music instructor of Parsons schools for the past two years, has been named as county supervisor of music.

Thirty-five students from the Kempton schools will be transported to Thomas high school again this year.

There will be seven schools of the county with only six month terms due to the new state law. They will be: Cross, Brushy Fork, Coketon, Close mountain, Canan, Chestnut Grove and Johnson. Those having six-month terms have not as yet had teachers hired for them.

All teachers in the county holding valid certificates will be named as substitute teachers, Cuppett added.

Nelson Is Leader In All-American By Single Stroke

Shoots Brilliant Six under Par 66; Ben Hogan Is Runner-up

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—Byron Nelson, the golfer who usually saves his Sunday punch for the final round, spanked a brilliant six-under-par 66 to pace the field in today's opening 18-hole session of the $60,000 All-American open tournament.

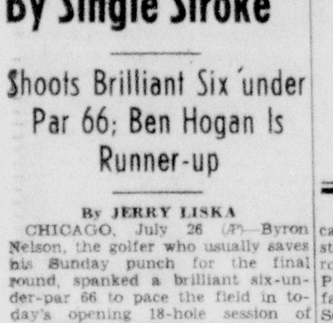

Nelson, striving to swell his year's war bond winnings to $45,200, almost as much as he won in all of 1944, provided most of the first-day thunder in the spectacular, three-ring show at Tam O'Shanter course with a closing 30 after getting the range with a par 36.

Leads Hogan by Stroke

That put Lord Byron a stroke ahead of Lt. Ben Hogan of the army air force, who opened boldly with a three-under-par 33, but lagged over the back nine with 34 for a 67.

Four strokes off the pace with 70's were two veteran campaigners, Denny Shute, of Akron, O., and perennial Gene Sarazen, of New York City.

Almost a dozen players were bracketed at 71, including such favorites as Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Sanford, Me., Sam Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, Va., making his first start since he fractured his wrist a month ago; Ky Laffoon, of Chicago; and Sgt. E. J. (Butch) Harrison, winner of last week's St. Paul open.

BYRON NELSON

The brewing feud between the two highlighted the inaugural proceedings in the Tam O'Shanter carnival which also includes 72-hole competition for All-American women's open and amateur championships.

Dorothy Germain Leads

In the feminine division, attractive Dorothy Germain, of Philadelphia, 1944 runner-up, topped 32 contenders with an even-par 76, a stroke ahead of Dorothy Kielty, of Los Angeles.

The 136-player field in the lush open which dangles a $13,600 (war bond) first prize performed pretty much up to expectations. Diminutive Lt. Hogan now stationed at Louisville, Ky., whose last competition was in the Dallas open last September, plainly indicated his 65-stroke practice round here Monday was no fluke.

In fact, there was little to choose between the one-time caddying chums and it appeared Hogan might battle Nelson right down to Sunday's closing session. It took an eagle three and four birdies to give the champion his one stroke edge over little Ben, who had six birdies and was over par only once.

Always a slow starter, Nelson three-putted three holes on his opening nine, yet finished with a standard 36. On the back nine, he caught fire, slamming an eagle three on the 460-yard tenth and bagging birdies on the fourteenth, fifteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth holes.

Hogan missed a chance to tie for the lead when his 25-foot putt on the eighteenth was inches short.

Rallies To Take Lead

Like Nelson, Miss Germain rallied to head the feminine parade. The Philadelphia miss faltered with a four-over-par 41 on the first nine, but then boomed a four-under-standard 35 on the back nine for her 76.

Miss Kielty's 39-38-77 placed her two strokes ahead of Sally Sessions, of Muskegon, Mich., who had 40-39-79 and was the only other woman to break 80.

Waltman Bests Mangus As South End Cleaners Conquer Senators, 4-2

Johnny Waltman bested Jimmie Mangus in a neat pitching duel yesterday on Penn Avenue field as the South End Cleaners, leaders of the Southern Division, jumbled the Senators in a Midget League contest by the score of 4 to 2.

It was the twentieth victory against two defeats for the Cleaners. Waltman limited the opposition to three hits, two of which were credited to Dorman, and struck out eight. Mangus twirled a four-hitter and mowed down eight via the strikeout route. The score:

CLEANERS	310 000 0—4	4	2
SENATORS	000 001 1—2	3	5

Waltman and Hunter. Mangus and Frye.

Nat's Reward Scores; Spill Marks Race

BOSTON, July 26 (AP)—Mrs. Fred Pred Preece's Nat's Reward emerged a nose winner in the $2,500 Nahant purse of a mile that topped an otherwise all-claiming program today at Suffolk Downs.

The race was marred by a fall at the clubhouse turn. Mrs. Alice Nissenbaum's Goldbart going to his knees and tossing Jockey Hubert Trent, who escaped uninjured.

Christopher Ranch's Canopus finished second, a half length in front of Mrs. E. M. O'Brien's Pennypacker, which had a head on M. Gilbert's Great Flares. Twelve went.

The first of several long-shots to score was H. A. Luro's Agni, 65 to 1 shot, which, coupled with Howe Stable's Lovan Day paid $658.40 on $2 tickets.

How Kear Saved a Life

By C. V. BURNS

A brief item in a Pittsburgh paper caught our eye the other day. It stated that a "couple of Aliquippa rookies are making good with the Pittsburgh Pirates' Hornell (NY) farm club of the Pony league . . . Second Baseman Billy Riggins and Left Fielder Lou Ross are both flirting with the .300 mark."

The Billy Riggins mentioned is a son of Billy Riggins, one-time star pitcher, third baseman and outfielder of the Midland Indians.

Richard J. Stakem recalled that the elder Riggins played for Midland back as far as 1912 when Jimmie McGuire managed the up-creek team. He later played under Price Poland at Midland and pitched in the fifth game of the 1919 series with Cumberland, which ended in a 2-2 tie in eleven innings. At that time Bill made the trip from Woodlawn (Pa.), now known as Aliquippa, to play for the Injuns.

The Riggins family, Joe Brehany, now Pittsburgh Pirates' scout, and John "Shug" Doyle, are among the former up-creek residents now living in Aliquippa. Doyle, incidentally, married a sister of the senior Bill Riggins.

Calton "Funny" Newnam, Cumberland's No. 1 boxing matchmaker of yesteryear, who has recovered from a recent illness, says that a good amateur boxing show this fall is the "shot in the arm" that the local fistic-minded have been craving.

Uncle Cal says that the best ring talent comes from the simon pure ranks and professional boxing will never amount to much locally unless the foundation is laid by the amateurs.

Newnam, incidentally, happens to be the promoter who staged the first big amateur boxing show in Cumberland at the Maryland theater. He later had success as matchmaker for American Legion professional shows at the state armory.

"Funny" likes to see the youngsters throw leather and he believes some lively amateur battles will do his heart a lot of good.

Talking about amateur boxing reminds us of the knockdown and dragout affairs the Knights of Columbus staged in their hall on North Mechanic street. One night in particular the show lasted almost three and a half hours and the fans were still crying for more fights after thirteen bouts had been completed. The show started at 8:30 and ended at 11:45 p. m. We got many a chuckle out of those shows, especially the night "Big Boy" Meekins delivered his speech from the ring. That was a classic.

Then there was the night that Jimmy O'Rourke, the B. & O. boilermaker, flattened Abe Gurson with one terrific punch and the concussion caused by lanky Abe bouncing off the canvas cracked the plaster on the walls. Russ Nierman says the Caseys had to remodel the building after that explosion.

The luck of the Irish, however, ran out at SS. Peter and Paul gym the night the ring fell down and the boys had one heluva time putting it together. The Caseys dreaded putting on that show anyway—it was Friday, the Thirteenth.

G. Kear Hosken, Frostburg jeweler, author of those ridiculously funny "Bigga da Lou" stories, and the Mountain City's No. 1 fight fan, tells how he "saved the life" of Holt Hitchins some years ago prior to a boxing show at Frostburg.

On that occasion Johnny Donnelly and Freddie Lux were scheduled to fight at the Frostburg ball park and Hitchins was on the gate taking tickets. There were too many persons getting in free so Holt made up his mind he was going to put a stop to this kind of business.

Presently along came a patry of four and Hitchins stopped them.

"Where are your tickets?" Holt inquired.

"I am Johnny Donnelly's manager and these other men are his seconds," came the reply.

"Don't try any funny business or I'll throw you out on your ear," Hitchins warned.

Hosken said he almost broke down the grandstand getting to the gate after he observed who Hitchins was arguing with.

Then he stepped in between Holt and the man who claimed to be Donnelly's manager.

"Holt," interrupted Hosken, "I want you to meet Frankie Dailey, manager of Johnny Donnelly. He is the same Dailey who fought six and ten round no-decision fights with Johnny Kilbane, the world's featherweight champion."

Telling the story the other day Hosken related that he saved Hitchin from having his name placed in the boxing records as being kayoed by Frankie Dailey in one of the preliminaries at the Frostburg ball park.

Freddie Lux, who fought Donnelly that night, is now a boxing judge for shows in Pittsburgh.

Paul Abele, former Meyersdale, Pa., high school coach, is the new head coach of football and basketball at Ligonier, Pa., high school.

A star athlete at Duquesne university, Pittsburgh, where he played end in football and was a crack forward in basketball, Abele was graduated from Johnstown, Pa., high before joining the Dukes. He has been coaching for the past eight years, serving at four different Pennsylvania schools—Meyersdale, Franklin Borough, Johnstown Catholic and Freeport.

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP) — Henry Wyse, top-drawer pitcher of the league leading Cubs, resisted a persistent challenge by the Cincinnati Reds today to turn in his season's fourteenth victory, 2 to 1. The Chicagoans thus maintained their distinction of winning every game they've played with Cincinnati this year, the only such sweep in the majors. It was the ninth meeting of the teams.

The moon-faced Wyse, who won seven straight games before being the victim of the Philadelphia Phillies' ten-run inning Sunday, yielded eight hits, four of them doubles. The box:

Carr Memorial Trophy Is Offered to Winner Of Oakland Tourney

OAKLAND, Md., July 26 (AP)—More than fifty golfers are expected to tee off tomorrow in the three-day tri-state invitation golf tournament at the Oakland country club.

Oakland Club President Ira J. Bosley said entries had been received from Fairmont, Clarksburg, Kingwood and Wheeling, W. Va., Cumberland, Oakland, Baltimore and other Maryland points; Washington, and Pittsburgh, Pa. More are expected.

The tourney will consist of seventy-two holes of medal play, eighteen holes each on Friday and Saturday, and thirty-six holes for the top forty-five contestants Sunday.

The linksmen will vie for the Dr. Logan L. Carr memorial trophy, honoring the late Dr. Carr, of Mountain Lake Park and Baltimore, one of the early Western Maryland golfing leaders.

The event is to be made an annual affair.

Mauriello Scores K.O.

NORFOLK, Va., July 26. (AP)—Tami Mauriello, 199, New York City, knocked out Vince Pimpinella, 183, Brooklyn, N. Y., in one minute and fifty-three seconds of the third round in a scheduled ten round bout here tonight.

DEMPSEY TO SPONSOR CAREER OF ARGENTINE HEAVY

The Woodmen's lead in the Rocking Chair Softball League dwindled to one and a half games yesterday following their defeat at the hands of the Elks coupled with Moose's victory over the Cumberland Outdoor Club.

The Elks dealt out an 8 to 4 setback to the league leaders at Community Park while the Moose swatsmiths connected for eleven safeties, six of which were shared by Jackson, Evans and Goodrich, each of whom garnered two hits. Hardinger and Davis each hit safely twice for the celar dwellers.

Pouncing on Joe Bolt for thirteen hits, the Knights of Columbus defeated Texcel at Fort Hill to the tune of 11 to 3. The Caseys racked up five markers in the opening heat and concluded the day's fireworks with a six-run outburst in the sixth frame. Long with two doubles and Conley and Garlitz with two singles each led the Caseys' offensive which brought the team its third straight victory. Harvey obained two of Texcel's nine hits. Russo To Tackle NBA Featherweight Champion Tonight

Undefeated New Jerseyite To Oppose Bartolo in Garden Ring

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — Two young boxers, one of whom has gone undefeated in fifty-one consecutive bouts and the other making his debut in the United States, feature the two halves of the double windup at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The unbeaten boxer is Freddie Russo of Rahway, N. J., who meets Sal Bartolo of Boston, the NBA featherweight champion of the world. Their battle is a non-title affair and for ten rounds.

Abel Evaristo Cestac, of Argentina, shipped to this country by Luis Angel Firpo, will be making his United States debut in the ten rounder against John Thomas, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Twenty-four years old and with 225 pounds packed on his 6 foot 4 inch frame, Cestac won 39 of 56 amateur fights in his home land and has triumphed in all his eight bouts since turning pro.

15,500 See Blue Wings Win at Garden State

CAMDEN, N. J., July 26 (AP)—Withstanding a powerful stretch run by Megogo, Edgehill Stable's Blue Wings drove to a stirring length and a half triumph in the one-mile Cedarcroft purse, feature attraction today at Garden State Park.

Installed the choice by the throng of some 15,500 who turned out for the day's sport, the gelded son of Blue Larkspur, under apprentice M. A. Buxton, Jr., went to the front when the gate opened and made every post a winning one. Megogo, ridden by Ken Scawthorn, came from far back and was menacing the leader at the end. Don Lin II was a non-threatening third.

Powell, Veteran Fly Chaser, Sold By Nats to Phils

Sale Made To Make Room for Younger Players at Washington

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Outfielders Jake Powell of the Washington Senators has been sold to the Philadelphia Phillies of the National league for an undisclosed sum, President Clark Griffith of the Senators announced today.

He will report to the Phillies tomorrow, Griffith said.

A former New York Yankee, Powell has been used sparingly by the Senators this season. Recently he quit the club but returned a day later and continued to sweat it out on the bench.

Griffith said Powell was sold to make way for younger players on the Washington roster.

Powell, now 36 years old, came to the majors in 1934 from Albany of the International league, playing first for the Washington and four full seasons with the Yankees. Then he played with San Francisco, Montreal, Indianapolis and St. Paul before returning to the Senators in 1943.

Last winter he joined the police force in nearby Montgomery county, Maryland.

Brooks To Coach Parsons Quintet

Homer Brooks, former Allegany high school and West Virginia university basketball player, has been appointed cage coach at Parsons, W. Va., high school, succeeding Cecil M. Stalnaker.

A graduate of Allegany high, class of 1935, Brooks coached the Rowlesburg, W. Va., high school River Lions the past several seasons.

Brooks was an expert foul shooter at West Virginia university.

Jimmy Bivins Whips Sheppard

PITTSBURGH, July 26. (AP)—Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland, rated as the No. 1 duration heavyweight contender, won a not unexpected decision over Curtis (The Hatchet Man) Sheppard of Pittsburgh in their 10-round go tonight before 6,000 fans at Forbes field.

It was Bivins's fight all the way and he did not appear to be exerting himself terrifically. There was not a knockdown in the whole bout.

City Softball Tossers Will Play Four Games

The sixth week of the City Softball League campaign will be concluded today when the Eagles, out in front by two full games, play the Williams Street Merchants on Rolling Mill field, Lacy's Delicatets tangle with Burton's Bulldogs at Taylor field, Fisher and Robinette's Aces oppose West Side on the East Side field and Concord Clothiers do battle with Celanese Chemists at Allegany field.

Cards Trounce Bucs

ST. LOUIS, July 26 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, collecting eighteen hits off three pitchers, trounced the fourth-place Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 2 in the opener of a five-game series tonight.

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — Red Ruffing made his first major league pitching start since the 1942 world series today and earned a 13-4 victory for New York over the Philadelphia A's although the former army air force sergeant tired in the seventh and gave way to Rookie Al Gettel.

Oppressive heat and periodic rainfall that forced two interruptions, once for almost an hour, forced Ruffing from the box after a walk and two singles had broken his shutout in the seventh. But the 40-year-old discharged veteran had a comfortable 8-1 lead at the time and later said he was completely satisfied with his comeback start. He struck out five and had allowed only four hits and smashed a triple. The box:

Three Baltimore Youths Nominated for Team

BALTIMORE, July 26. (AP)—Three youthful Baltimore sandlot baseball stars have been nominated to play with the All-American baseball association nine against Connie Mack's All-Stars August 18 in Shibe park, Philadelphia.

The trio are Earl Smith, catcher for Barclay A. A.; Henry Tribull, first baseman for the Mohawks, and Pitcher Dominic Antonelli, of St. Katherine's.

Only one of the three will be chosen by the Sandlot Sports Association of Philadelphia to compete in the game.

Bankrupt Scores In Jamaica Race

Son of Pay Up Is Winner of Handicap Event by Half Dozen Lengths

JAMAICA RACE TRACK, N. Y., July 26 (AP)—Townsend B. Martin's Bankrupt, a veteran that recently regained winning form here, today made it two straight triumphs in Class C company when he proved much too good for three rivals in the New Rochelle handicap.

Under the top impost of 120 pounds, which included Bobby Permane, the Son of Pay Up clicked by a half dozen lengths in 1:56 4-5 for the mile and three-sixteenths, only four-fifths of a second slower than the track record although the strip was sloppy. Havahome stable's Eurasian was second, eight lengths better than the Dell stable's Coronal. C. V. Whitney's mare Legend Bearer, a slight favorite over the $5.40 victor, finished a very bad last in the field of four, ten lengths behind Coronal.

Despite the fact that there was very little difference in Handicapper J. B. Campbell's weight assignments and all four starters drew substantial backing, a total of twenty-four lengths showed between the first and last horses at the finish.

Shields and Wood Win In Seabright Tourney

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 26. (AP)—Frank X. Shields downed the Burke brothers, of Rego Park, N. Y., today in the first and second rounds of the elimination to complete the draw for the fifty-seventh annual invitation tournament of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club which opens here today.

Shields hung a 6-4, 6-0 defeat on Ed Burke in the opening round, and a 6-0, 6-2 trimming on Tom Burke in the second.

Sidney Wood easily eliminated Henry Oesten, Garden City, N. Y., 6-2, 6-1, then moved on to trounce James Livingston, San Francisco, 6-1, 6-2.

Bartolo-Russo Boxing Event Is Listed by Radio

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Juyl 26—Fight night on Friday brings a featherweight affair. The principals: Sal Bartolo, NBA champion, and Freddy Russo, a leading contender. However, the championship is not involved.

Otherwise, the details provided for the usual MBS broadcasting period at 10 extending through to the result comes from Don Dunphy and Bill Corum.

According to the NBC correction list, it will have Dorothy Kirsten, of the soprano voice, in two of its nighttime programs. First she is scheduled to pay a return visit to the Paul Lavalle Melody at 8, and then return at 10 for the Music and Dunninger show.

Senator Homer E. Capehart, of Indiana, a Republican, is to make the weekly fifteen-minute talk on NBC at 10:45. His topic is given as "Force plus Intelligence toward Japan."

With Frank Munn on vacation, another tenor, Bob Hannon, is singing for him in the NBC Waltz Time as conducted by Abe Lyman at 9. . . Bill Stern is due back from a three weeks vacation again to handle his sportcast at 10:45 on NBC. The two-minute guest will be Byron Nelson, who does right well with golf balls. . . . Continuing the American Story at 11:30, NBC puts on "The Discovered," all about the vanished empire of the Incas.

Jerry Wayne reports that his CBS guests at 7:30 will be both Judy Garland of the songs and movies and Peter Donald, of the story-telling Donalds.

Board of Zoning Appeals Reversed By Circuit Court

James L. Messick Wins Fight To Move Ice Business to New Location

The circuit court yesterday reversed the Cumberland Board of Zoning Appeals which denied James L. Messick permission to move his ice business from 361 to 359 Frederick street.

The order and opinion which were handed down yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper followed the hearing of the appeal last Friday when Messick's attorneys, D. Lindley Sloan and William A. Gunter, argued that the denial was an "invasion of his constitutional rights."

Court Inspects Site

Prior to the time the zoning ordinance went into effect, Messick learned that his landlord wished to take possession of the property he rents and accordingly made arrangements to transfer his business a few doors away to a location across from a school. Charges were made that the presence of the ice plant would annoy the school children and also cause obnoxious odors.

Judge Huster and Judge Capper visited the property named in the appeal after hearing the testimony and yesterday found for Messick stating that to prevent him from moving "a few feet westerly" would deprive him of a valuable business built up over a period of years and would constitute an abuse of discretion and deprive him of the rights which he is entitled to under the law.

The opinion declared that after observing the property, it was the opinion of the court that the move to the new location would not be contrary to the public interest in any way, and pointed out that Messick purchased the property prior to the time the zoning law went into effect.

Would Work Hardship

Opinions by other courts reveal that a liberal interpretation should be employed in cases of this sort, the opinion said. To deprive Messick of a valuable business would "result in unwarranted hardship and injustice to him" the opinion declared.

The court's findings also stated that "the Court cannot see that such a construction of this zoning law would in any manner tend to defeat the zoning plan provided for by the ordinance. The removal of the small ice manufacturing plant from its present location into the proposed location does not bring any new or different industry into that block and adds no additional burden to anyone, so far as the court can see."

In reversing the appeals board, the court ordered that Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, approve the application of Messick for the occupancy permit filed in the proceedings.

Building Permits Show Decrease

The number of building permits issued for new construction in July shows a decrease as compared to those issued during the same period last year, but the cost of construction was considerably greater this month, according to a monthly report made yesterday by Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer.

Only three building permits for new construction were issued from June 26 to July 25 this year, with the estimated cost of the construction amounting to $8,500.

During the same period last year, seven such permits were granted, but the estimated construction cost totalled only $1,145, Rizer said.

Twelve building permits granted for making additions and improvements were issued this month, with the estimated cost amounting to $18,990. During July, 1944, eleven such permits were issued, with the estimated construction cost totalling $15,828.

Nine applications for occupancy permits have been made at the city engineer's office since last December, when the zoning code dividing the city into residential and business districts was put into effect.

Of these all but one have been granted. The latter is the application of Jess Kimmell to operate a grocery at 229 Springdale street. Kimmell applied for a permit July 6, but the city engineer did not issue the permit because the grocery is located in a residential district. Kimmell appealed Rizer's decision, and the former was granted permission to operate the store pending the appointment of a zoning board, which will make a final decision in the case.

Cpl. Serf Wins Point Discharge At Fort Meade

One of four servicemen of the Cumberland area who arrived in Miami, Fla., recently after being flown to this country from the European theater has been honorably discharged under the point system, and the other three expect to come home tomorrow on furlough.

Alvin R. Serf, Jr., 29, technician fifth grade, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Serf, 610 Greene street, and husband of Mrs. Mary Ellyn Serf, 53 Greene street, was discharged yesterday afternoon at Fort George G. Meade with 114 points.

Cpl. Serf, a veteran of thirty-nine months of overseas service in North Africa and Italy with a field artillery outfit of the First armored division of the Fifth army, landed at Miami July 19 and reported to Fort Meade yesterday for processing prior to being discharged.

Another local serviceman, Thomas N. Mothersole, 26, technician fifth grade, son of Mrs. Maude Mothersole, 104 Decatur street, telephoned his mother Tuesday evening from Indiantown Gap, Pa., telling her that he expects to be home tomorrow night.

Cpl. Mothersole, who entered the army in March, 1941, has 111 points toward a discharge. He went overseas to the Mediterranean theater in May, 1942, as a trumpet player in the First armored division band. After graduating from Allegany high school, Cpl. Mothersole attended the Cincinnati College of Music for four years, entering the service three months before completing his senior year.

Tech. Sgt. Paul L. Burch, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Burch, 112 Humbird street, the third Cumberland man in the group flown to the States from Italy, wired his parents from Florida last Saturday that he was en route to Fort George G. Meade for processing prior to coming home on furlough.

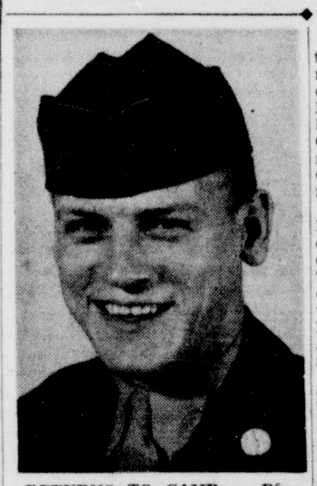

Sgt. Burch, who entered the army October 7, 1941, also went overseas with the First armored division in May, 1942, and saw action in North Africa and Italy as a gun mechanic. He was employed at the Celanese plant before beginning military service.

His brother, Myrle Burch, is stationed at Orange, Tex., with a shore patrol unit of the navy.

The fourth serviceman to land at Miami July 19 from Italy was Kenneth D. Braillier, 30, technician fifth grade, RFD 2, Frostburg.

Pfc. Charles F. Stiner Completes Furlough and Returns to Meade

RETURNS TO CAMP — Pfc. Charles F. Stiner, who recently returned to Fort George G. Meade after spending a thirty-day furlough here, is scheduled to take two months training at Camp Gruber, Okla., before being sent to the South Pacific. (See story).

Pfc. Charles F. Stiner has returned to Fort George G. Meade for reassignment after spending a thirty day furlough with his wife, Mrs. Betty Stiner, 313 Paca street, and his mother Mrs. Nelia Stiner, 222 Glenn street. He will have two months training at Camp Gruber, Okla., prior to being sent to the South Pacific.

Pfc. Stiner received the Combat Infantry badge for performances of ground combat against the enemy. A member of Company L, Three Hundred Forty-first Infantry of the Eighty-sixth Blackhawk division he served in France, Belgium, Holland, Bavaria, Germany and Austria before being returned to the states.

During the battle of the Ruhr pocket his outfit captured twenty-five towns and villages. In seven days they traveled forty-one miles and captured Hagen and closed the campaign by joining the Ninth army. Serving as a rifleman his unit was with the First army and captured 33,000 Germans of the Wehrmacht and SS divisions in this drive.

In the Third army for the Bavarian campaign his unit crossed the Danube at Inglostadt and captured over 100 towns and villages and freed several thousand Allied troops, who had been captured in the Battle of the Belgium Bulge. Pfc. Stiner was separated from his Rangers platoon with which his unit was serving, in the drive for Inglostadt and was listed as missing in action for nine days. With two comrades he worked his way across enemy territory and rejoined his outfit in Austria, in a captured enemy officer's vehicle.

A former employe of the warp knitting department of the Celanese corporation, he entered the service February 12, 1943 and received his basic training at Fort Bragg, N. C. He was transferred from anti-aircraft to infantry in August of 1944 and went overseas March 3, 1945.

Pfc. Stiner wears the Good Conduct medal, the ETO and American Defense ribbons with two battle stars and the Combat Infantry badge.

Fourteen Naval Volunteers Will Report August 1

Fourteen naval volunteers of the Cumberland area, all 17, will report to the local navy recruiting station at 9:30 a. m. next Wednesday, August, 1, for final instructions prior to leaving for Baltimore to enter the navy on general assignment, it was announced yesterday by Chief Petty Officer Walter B. Warmee, in charge of navy recruiting here.

The group will be in charge of Harold L. McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. McDnald, RFD 2, city. McDonald was graduated from Flintstone high school this year.

Others leaving Wednesday include Donald E. Friend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Friend, Mt. Lake Park, a graduate of Oakland high school this year; George J. Carder, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Carder, Mt. Savage, an employe at the Celanese plant; Virgil L. Buskirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Buskirk, Frostburg, a junior at Beall high school.

Jennings M. Oakman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Oakman, Amaranth, Pa., a graduate of the Amaranth high school; Victor P. Coffman, son of Mrs. Lillian Rinker Coffman, RFD 4, Twiggtown road; Bernard Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Green, Mt. Savage, a junior at Beall high school.

Ronald J. Nicol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald T. Nicol, Lonaconing, a sophomore at Central high school there and an employe at the Celanese plant this summer; Vernon R. Burns, son of Odus C. Burns, Keyser, W. Va., who is employed by the B. and O. railroad and who volunteered for enlistment on his seventeetn birthday May 12.

James J. Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard T. Woods, Lonaconing, a senior at LaSalle high school; Carlton W. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Lewis, Cresaptown, a graduate of Oldtown high school in 1944; Edward J. Kane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Kane, Cresaptown, a senior at Allegany high school; Don E. Lowstuter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lowstuter, Meyersdale, Pa., a graduate of Meyersdale high school this year; and George W. Feagles, son of Mrs. Josephine Feagles Shanski, 521 Furnace street, an employe of the Community Baking Company.

Chief Warmee said that Friend, Carder, Oakman, Coffman, Green Nicol, Lewis and Feagles have all volunteered for service in the regular navy, stating that they will serve until reaching their twenty first birthday. The remaining six youths will be sworn into the naval reserve.

Two Local Soldiers Are Receiving Treatment In Baker Hospital

Two more local soldiers, Pfc. Frank H. Wineland and Pfc. Henry F. Hyde, are receiving treatment at Newton D. Baker general hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., according to word received here.

Pfc. Wineland of Long, served overseas thirteen months with the Seventy-ninth Division, Three Hundred Fifteenth Regiment of the Seventh army. He was captured in France and was a prisoner of war in Germany for seven months. Pfc. Wineland wears the ETO ribbon with three battle stars, the Good Conduct medal and the Combat Infantryman's badge.

Before entering the army he worked at the Wineland Coal Company. He attended Allegany high school and is the husband of the former Miss Clara Robinson. Mrs. Wineland and their son, Donald Frank reside at Long.

Pfc. Hyde of 104 East third street, served for six months in France and Germany with the Twenty-third Cavalry, Sixteenth Armored Division, of the Third army. He wears the Purple Heart, the ETO ribbon with two battle stars and the Good Conduct medal.

He attended Allegany high school and was employed by the J. M. Perdue Wholesale Meat Dealers before entering the service. His wife, Mrs. Gladys Freeland Hyde, resides on Third street.

Twin Boys Born In Memorial Hospital

Twin boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cannon, Oldtown, in Memorial hospital last evening at 8:20 and 8:24 o'clock. Cannon is employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Mrs. Cannon is the former Miss Helen Haugh. Mr. and Mrs. Cannon have one other child.

Operation of Paddle Wheels Is Stopped by Police Department

North End Residents Indignant over Action Taken at Festival

North End residents interested in the North End Playground were still hot under the collar last night in the wake of a police crackdown on amateur gambling Wednesday when paddle wheel operations at the annual playground festival were closed down.

The festival has been conducted for the last twelve years and the proceeds from the various concessions are used to maintain the playground at a high efficiency for North Cumberland children.

Eyerman Ordered Raid

The raid was made by Detective Edwin R. Lilya under orders from Police Chief Oscar A. Eyerman. Although the paddle wheels were closed down, bingo and a penny pitching game were allowed to continue.

Members of the North End Playground Association yesterday were not hesitant in declaring that they were at a loss to understand why the police should move in on a neighborhood festival "of neighbors and taxpayers" who yearly provide funds for the maintenance of a playground for their children.

Advised that Police Commissioner James Orr had told a reporter that he had received complaints about the festival last year, the North Enders hurled back the charge that gambling, not amateur, "was going on in almost all sections of the city."

Another North End resident declared, "I'm not crusader-minded in the slightest but I would like to know why the police singled out that little playground to make an example of in view of the general situation on gambling in town."

A spokesman for the North End Playground yesterday reported that Commissioner Orr originally told the association the festival could operate as in the past, but "to keep it quiet."

Orr Denies Statement

Later, however, the spokesman said that Orr advised the group not to operate the wheels because the "newspapers might take a picture." Orr, an employe of the Times and Alleganian Company, later denied that he made that statement.

"I told McCullough (W. Edgar McCullough, president of the Playground association) that "someone might take a picture," Orr said in correcting the statement.

Orr said he had no additional statements to make last night.

Another North End resident said yesterday "I know for a fact that wide-open gambling was permitted at the carnival here several weeks ago, yet, when we try to raise some money for the benefit of the community, the Police department puts a stop to it. In my opinion, here's a case where two and two don't add up to four."

Chief Oscar A. Eyerman could not be reached at his home last night and was believed to be out of town.

Weaver Brothers Will Be Honored At Memorial Service

Cpl. Robert J. Weaver, and Sgt. Edward Weaver, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Weaver, Bowman's addition will be honored at memorial services to be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the First Church of the Nazarene, Oldtown road. The Weaver brothers were killed in action in the European theater of war early last year.

Cpl. Robert Weaver was killed in Germany, Jan. 24, 1944, while Sgt. Edward Weaver lost his life in Germany, March 6, 1944. The latter was the husband of Mrs. Alice Atkinson Weaver, of Route 3, Valley Road and the father of a 2-year-old daughter, Patricia Ann.

Identity of Youth Is Established

A 17-year-old Italian youth arrested ten days ago by State Trooper Blair J. Buckel near Grantsville is a stolen car was identified yesterday by receipt of information from the Pennsylvania State School for Boys at Morganza.

The establishment of the youth's identity revealed that he is Anthony Dariano, of Pittsburgh. The boy told State Police and FBI agents that his name was Antonio Bruno Perino when taken into custody but when he could not produce a registration card for the car the officers suspected he had stolen the machine and was using a fictitious name in order to cover up his escape from the school July 16. He was serving a year for auto theft.

Later, the boy's fingerprints were obtained.

FBI agents said Trooper Buckel noticed the car near Grantsville and decided to check the occupants. When the Dariano youth and three other youths riding in the car saw the officer approaching they fled. All but Dariano escaped.

When questioned Dariano told officers he and the other boys were on their way to Kitzmiller, Md., to visit relatives. The car stolen at Turtle Creek, Pa., is owned by Walter E. Ritchie, of Connellsville, Pa.

A. Florian Wilson Explains Celanese Placement of Vets

Discussing the problems facing the nation in regard to the reemployment of returning servicemen, A. Florian Wilson, a member of the personnel staff at the Celanese plant, said last night that all former employes at the plant who applied for jobs after receiving disability discharges have been placed in suitable types of work.

Wilson addressed the regular dinner meeting of the Exchange club at 6:15 p. m. yesterday at Central YMCA. Charles George, president, presided and introduced the speakers.

Citing methods used by the plant management to place handicapped veterans in jobs which they could handle most efficiently, Wilson said that industry and labor should do everything possible to give veterans seeking employment a "fair chance."

A visitor at the meeting, Col. Ralph Johnson, Chicago, Ill., described some of his experiences during eighteen months of overseas service as commander of an anti-tank artillery outfit attached to the Third army.

The army officer said that real credit in winning the war in Europe belongs to war workers who stayed on their jobs and produced equipment with which to fight the enemy, and to those who purchased as many war bonds as they could afford.

Col. Johnson, who practiced law in Illinois for three years before being called up from the reserves in 1942 for active service, returned to Chicago last night after spending four days here visiting his sister, Mrs. Lona Daum, 704 Brookfield avenue, a dietician at Memorial hospital. When his leave ends in two weeks, Col. Johnson will report to Camp Polk, La., for two months' training before being assigned to the Pacific theater.

Twenty-two members attended last night's meeting. The club will hold another dinner meeting at Central YMCA Wednesday, August 1, at 6:15 p. m.

Fletcher Warns Federal Housing Is Planned Here

The Public Housing Authority plans to start a building project of fifty units here unless construction of fifty homes by private capital is undertaken immediately, Harold R. Fletcher, cashier of the People's bank, said at a special meeting of the mayor and city council yesterday morning.

Stating that federal officials term the local situation critical because of the need for homes by employes of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Fletcher said authority for fifty houses twenty-five for rent and twenty-five for sale, was granted three months ago by the National Housing Agency.

He added, however, that only twelve permits, all in the sale or owner occupying classification, have been issued.

Fletcher pointed out that the city will receive no tax revenue if a public housing project is started, stating that the barracks-like type of construction is not desirable. He said plans and specifications for fifty additional houses, twelve more than originally allowed, have been prepared and that financing is arranged.

Building costs, according to Fletcher, are 40 per cent higher than in 1940 and that with a probable decline in values of 20 per cent due after the war, it is not possible for private interests to build with assurance of not losing money unless some way is found to reduce the first cost.

Fletcher said the city has taken over a number of lots for non-payment of taxes and expressed the hope some arrangement can be made whereby these lots may be secured at a minimum cost. The view was expressed that lots in the Ridgedale area could be used.

Fletcher listed the advantages of private housing as follows:

It will keep out federal housing.

It will put city-owned lots with improvements on the tax books.

It will open up local building.

A number of contractors, according to Fletcher, say they can build the homes if materials can be obtained. He said AA-1 priorities are available as federal authorities are anxious to have the homes ready for use before winter.

Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, said some of the Ridgedale area lots may not be so desirable as utility facilities are lacking in most of the section.

Thomas C. Gulland, of the Allegany Ballistics plant, said it makes no difference where the homes are located, but that an attempt is being made to avoid public housing. He said some men are ready to come to work here if they can find homes and that others are here, but without their families.

Fletcher stated that officials of the ballistics plant say it may stay here after the war if it receives sufficient cooperation.

Commissioner William E. McDonald explained that the city has about $2,300 invested in Ridgedale area lots in the way of state and county taxes and in addition lost about as much in city taxes.

Commissioner James Orr proposed that the city sell the lots for what it has in them and then have a buying agency develop the lots. Fletcher proposed having federal officials survey all city-owned lots to determine which are usable and this was agreed to. The check is expected within ten days.

Others attending the session were D. Clifford Goodfellow of the Cumberland Improvement Company and C. W. Walters of the ballistics plant.

Gallup Poll Makes Accurate Forecast In British Voting

A highly accurate forecast of the extent to which the British people would swing toward the left in the recent election, results of which were announced yesterday, was made by British Gallup poll, in an early report which appeared in Cumberland newspapers.

The final forecast published in London the day before the election compares as follows with election returns as announced to date:

	Forecast	Actual Results
Labor	47%	48.5%
Government	38.5%	36.4%
Liberal	10.5%	9.2%
National Liberal	2.5%	3.1%
Commonwealth	0.5%	0.5%
Communist	0.5%	0.3%

The average forecast will probably be less than two per cent when all returns are tabulated.

Four Are Admitted To Local Hospitals

Elmer Henderson, 46, 605 Hill Top drive, was resting fairly comfortably in Allegany hospital last night where he was admitted yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock suffering from undetermined head injuries as a result of an accident on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yesterday.

The B. and O. brakeman told attaches he was injured when he was struck by a moving object while he was at work on the top of a freight car. X-ray will be taken today to determine the extent of his injuries.

Injured in Fall

Floyd Price, 26, 113 Henry street, was admitted to Allegany hospital yesterday at 2:30 p. m. for observation and treatment of injuries suffered when he fell from a Cumberland Cement and Supply Company truck yesterday. Price complained of pain in the ribs when he was admitted, attaches said. His condition was "about the same" last evening.

Leo Isner, 33, Williams road, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday at 4:30 p. m. for a laceration on the right forehead. The Cement Products Company employe said a cement mixer struck him on the head as he was at work.

Falls on Milk Bottle

David Bittinger, 3-year-old son o. Mr. and Mrs. David Bittinger, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday at 2:30 p. m. for a slight laceration on the abdomen. Attaches were told the child was cut when he fell upon a milk bottle.

Philip Often, 38, 812 Maplewood lane, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday at 3:50 p. m. for a cut on the left hand. The Cumberland Brewing Company employe said he was loading beer when a bottle exploded.

Ernest Bates, 57, negro, 1009 Gay street, was treated in Memorial hospital yesterday morning at 10:25 o'clock for a right leg injury. The Hazelwood construction employe said a wheelbarrow of stone overturned on his leg as he was at work at the Western Maryland coal tipple in Ridgeley yesterday.

Connie Zimmermann, 14-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Zimmermann, 841 Braddock road, was admitted to Allegany hospital Tuesday afternoon for treatment of a fractured right arm suffered, attaches were told, in a fall from a tree near his home. He was discharged from the hospital yesterday morning.

Brewery Worker Hurt

Richard Payne, 41, Paw Paw way, was treated in Allegany hospital yesterday morning for a laceration of the little finger of the right hand. The German Brewing Company worker said he was injured while loading a truck.

Thomas Ravenscroft, 13, LaVale, was treated in the same hospital yesterday morning for a left wrist injury suffered, he said, in a fall at his home.

Elmer Fetters, 53, 224 North Centre street, who was admitted to Allegany hospital Wednesday afternoon for treatment of injuries suffered when he fell backwards while working at the B. and O. shops here, was discharged from the hospital yesterday.

Joseph Reissig, 15, 815 Shawnee avenue, was treated in Allegany hospital Wednesday afternoon for an injury of the middle finger of the left hand.

Cumberland Steel Workers To Report For Duty Today

Union Official Believes Plant Will Be in Full Operation Monday

Workers of the Cumberland Steel Company, at a meeting yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Allegany Trades Council hall, decided to report to work this morning at 7 o'clock, Thomas E. Hobrock, president of International Association of Machinists, Lodge No. 489, AFL, reported last evening.

The union leader believed the plant, which has been closed since Monday morning, will be in full operation Monday morning.

Hobrock said the grievance which precipitated the walk out will be negotiated with the company in the near future.

No statement could be secured from company officials last evening as to the possibility of the resumption of operations. Guy J. Spear, vice president of the company, reported the company has "nothing to give out."

A union source said Richard W. Goodrick, federal conciliator, met with company officials and learned terms under which the men might resume work.

Raymond May, whose discharge was responsible for the workers refusal to work Monday, will remain as recording secretary of the union, but will be replaced by Everett Swaner as chairman of the union's grievance committee.

Both Goodrick and A. G. Skundor, Pittsburgh, IAM grand lodge representative, left here yesterday afternoon after assisting in the negotiations.

Grantsville Woman Attempts Suicide

A Grantsville woman who authorities reported attempted to commit suicide as a result of a misunderstanding with her boy friend was in a "fairly good" condition last evening in Memorial hospital where she was admitted yesterday at 3:35 p. m. suffering from a gunshot wound in the abdomen.

Trooper Harry Holsinger, who investigated for state police, said the woman, Miss Edna Hoover, 21, who makes her home with Marshall Wilt of near Bittinger, shot herself with a .22 caliber rifle while in the parlor of the Wilt home shortly after 3 p. m. yesterday.

The bullet, which entered the abdomen and emerged through the left hip, lodged in an organ of the mountain home.

The trooper said Miss Hoover was with her boy friend, Everett Wilburn, 29, of near Bittinger, and that Wilburn had been teasing her about their marriage which has been postponed several times.

Wilburn who told Trooper Holsinger he was only kidding, said that the license was secured about a month ago but that the ceremony has been delayed. Wilburn is employed in a coal mine near Grantsville, authorities said.

The gun, which belonged to Wilt has been confiscated and the bullet was recovered from where it lodged in the organ, state police said.

No charges have been placed Trooper Holsinger reported, pending action by Neil C. Fraley, states attorney for Garrett county.

Heavy Downpour Breaks One-Day Heat Wave

Although the mercury soared to ninety-six degrees at noon yesterday, a heavy downpour at 3 p. m. broke the one-day heat wave and sent the temperature down twenty-nine degrees to a reading of sixty-seven an hour after the rainstorm broke.

During the past ten days of cloudy weather, the mercury has not risen much beyond the middle eighties, but yesterday morning it stood at ninety-four degrees, with high humidity which lasted until the afternoon rainstorm.

Distribution Costs Must Be Cut, Pitner Tells Kiwanians

Prodution is winning the war and distribution must win the peace, W. H. Pitner, vice president and general manager of the Pharis Tire and Rubber Company, Newark, O., said in an address before the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday in speaking on the subject "Distribution and the Importance of Reducing the Cost of Distribution of Merchandise Generally in the Post-war Period."

Asserting that sixty per cent of the cost of merchandise represents distribution costs and only forty per cent manufacturing costs. Pitner added that "the cost of distribution must come down if we are to find the prosperity we are looking for in the postwar period."

Pitner told the Kiwanians that the tire industry is notoriously a bunch of price cutters, and that the industry now operates under ceilings put into effect by the OPA which restricts the price of tires. He added that today the industry receives only forty-five cents more for an average tire made out of synthetic rubber than it did before Pearl Harbor on tires made out of crude rubber. Costs have gone up substantially more than the forty-five cents increase and the only place to cut costs in distribution of the product, he said.

Overall costs must be reduced to meet present conditions Pitner declared and said that in today's business that means reducing distribution costs. He pointed out that many methods have been studied for handling tires, and mentioned company owned stores, merchant distributors, chain stores and co-operative enterprises. Pitner asserted it is only possible to reduce costs when you know the costs of distribution and he said it is often hard to correctly obtain them.

Distribution was divided into four general categories by Pitner, namely:

The product itself; the mechanics of physical distribution itself; selling effort, and retail outlet, or the point of final sale. He discussed various phases of each category.

Canning Should Not Be Curtailed By Lack of Sugar, Miss Bean Says

The canning of fruit does not necessarily have to be curtailed because of the scarcity of sugar, Miss Maude A. Bean, home demonstration agent, pointed out yesterday.

"Keep in mind that there are other available sweetenings that can take the place of part or even all of the sugar called for in a recipe," Miss Bean said in explaining that when sugar is scarce housewives can still put up their fruit and have their desserts too.

Names Several Substitutes

For sweetening purposes, Miss Bean said that 1 cup of granulated sugar equals the following substitutes: 1 cup of honey, 1 cup of maple syrup or sugar; 1½ cup molasses; 1½ cup sorghum; 1½ cup cane syrup; 2 cup corn syrup; 1¼ cup brown sugar; 1¼ cup powdered sugar.

In commenting on ways to stretch sugar in food preservation, Miss Bean said that juicy fruits, such as berries, cherries, currants and plums can be canned in their own juice without sugar. Obtain extra juice from real ripe fruit by crushing, heating and straining. Pack the fruit in jar and add boiling juice to cover. Adjust lid and process.

Another way is to simmer fruit without sugar three to four minutes, pack into jars, adjust lid and process.

Yet another suggestion was to sugar fruit down for several hours with very little sugar (2 teaspoons sugar or 1 teaspoon sugar and 1 teaspoon of honey) and heat slowly to boil. Fill jars, adjust lids and process.

Other suggestions included: make a syrup of pure fruit juice from ripe fruit (instead of water) with one-half sugar and one-half honey or syrup. Or all honey or syrup may be used instead of sugar; syrup made with corn syrup is less sweet than that made with honey; use more light instead of medium or heavy syrup in canning.

Commenting on syrups, it was pointed out that one-half cup sugar and one-half cup of light syrup or honey to one quart of juice, for apples, quince or pineapple.
